TAFT WAS VICTIM OF SLIGHT MISHAP

ABLE TO SPEAK AT BANGOR

Ellsworth, Me., July 23.—President Taft is suffering from a severely strained right ankle. Despite the excrusiating pain which was evidenced by a decided limp and facial grimaces each time he had to climb in or out of an automobile or train, the President carried out the rather exacting programme which had been arranged for him today. It included a speech, an automobile riae, and luncheon in Bangor, a speech and a reception here.

Tonight Mr. Taft and the members of his party are the guests of Senator Hale at his Ellsworth home. Tomorrow afternoon they will again board the yacht Mayflower at Mount Desert ferry and will spend Monday and Tuesday cruising in Casco Bay with stops at Islesboro and Rockland. The President hurt his ankle while he was playing golf on the links of the Kobo Valley Club at Bar Harbor yesterday. He was climbing a steep grassy slope, leading to one of the greens when his right foot turned beneath him. There was some pain at the time, but Mr. Taft thought nothing of it and continued his game. This morning, however, when he awoke on the Mayflower there was considerable swelling. Surgeon Grayson, of the Mayflower, dressed the injured ankle and made a thorough examination. He declared there was no general sprain, but a bad strain of some of the tendons. He advised the President to rest on board, but the engagements of the day were of such a character that he could not very well cancel them. Mr. Taft carried them out to the last detail, even to standing for half an hour after speaking at Hancock Hall here late today to shake hands with several hundred friends and neighbors of Senator Hale. As a result of his constant going the President's ankle was worse tonight and he is suffering quite keenly. There is no thought, however, that the hurt will be allowed to interfere with the plans for the remainder of the cruise. The Maine trip was largely planned by Mrs. Taft, according to a statement in one of the President's speeches today and he is anxious that she, as well as he, shall get the full benefit of it. Mr. Taft had Prof. H. C. Emery, chairman of the tariff commission, who has just returned from a trip to Germany, as a guest and received from him a preliminary and entirely informal report of the commission's work up to this time. Prof. Emery will call with Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh at Beverly, soon after the President's return and later in the Summer the entire commission will meet at the Summer capital.

Mr. Taft weathered the Bangor trip bravely and pleased an enthusiastic crowd there by an eulogy of the great men the State has produced and the possibilities for agricultural development that yet lie in the soil awaiting the application of modern scientific methods of farmng.

Taft Likes to Move.

Both at Bangor and here, Mr. Taft commended the political sagacity that has been shown by Maine in the past in selecting good men as Senators and Representatives and then keeping them continually in office until their influence and power became nationwide. In his speech here this afternoon the President said that his visit to Maine had strengthened his belief that it was a good thing; to move around among the people. "Anyway, I like to do it," he said, "and I know that they like to see the man whom chance has made the titular head of the government. They like to see what manner of man it is who is sitting at Washington and who, I hope, they think is doing the best he can; getting a lot of abuse perhaps, but after all apparently thriving on it.

His Idea of Conservation.

In his Bangor speech the President said in part: "As I came from Mount Desert this morning and looking out of the window of the car in which I rode, the thought came to me with reference to these older Eastern States. The question has been raised as to what your future is. Have you attained all the prosperity possible here? Certainly you all look happy and under the constitution the chief right is the pursuit of happiness. It seems to me that you as much as any people of the Republic are interested in that subject which has so many definitions—so many various definitions—the conservation of our resources. In the first place, early in the development of the West, everybody wanted to be a successful farmer and went West for the purpose of finding rich soil that would grow big crops with as little cultivation as possible, and the Maine man played the largest part in the development of that Western country.

"But now all the rich soil has been taken up; now we are issuing bonds in order to put water on the dry soil in the West that otherwise would not grow crops and the thought of many of the wisest men of the country are being turned to the abandoned farms of the East, where modern science in agriculture show that crops can be raised if only proper attention and rules are followed in the cultivation of the soil. You have in Maine broad acres of land that can be availed of for this purpose.

Should Remain on Farms.

"Farmers today are our millionaires and there is no reason why Maine should not have farmer millionaires as well as the West. Nor do I see any reason why the young men who come out of your agricultural schools should not stay here on the farms of Maine and raise crops that will make them comfortable and enable them to send their children to colleges and universities and continue their politt-cal and moral influence throughout the State and the Nation."

ARBITRATION MAY STOP THE STRIKE

Situation Much Brighter Betwee Grand Trunk and Its Employes.

ASK FOR RAILROAD EXPERTS

Minister of Labor Conferring With Officials of Road—Attitude of President Hayes—Parties Interested in Controversy.

Ottawa, Ont., July 23.—The possibility of bringing about the settlement of the Grand Trunk strike by means of arbitration looks somewhat brighter tonight. James Murdock, representing the men, wired Mackenzie King, Minister of Labor, this evening, expressing a willingness "to refer existing differences to arbitration provided a board of arbitrators, mutually acceptable, can be secured."

Minister King is satisfied that Mr. Murdock's communication is a bona fide offer to arbitrate and tonight he is trying to obtain an unequivocal response from the Grand Trunk officials. President Hayes wired during the day that he had nothing to add to his letter of July 21st, in which he took the position that a board of arbitration should be composed of "expert railroad men." President Hayes was not aware of the changed attitude of the trainmen, however, and Mr. King at once wired him a copy of Mr. Murdock's telegram, which is as follows:

"If there appears to be reasonable doubt in the minds of any parties interested in this controversy suggestive of the fact that the same plan of arbitration that successfully settled the same questions on a number of other lines, would be unfair and inconsiderate of the rights of either party to the dispute in this case, then it is a matter that should be given consideration and arrangements should be made to conserve the interests of the party whose rights were likely to suffer by an acceptance of the plan of arbitration used repeatedly heretofore.

"We recognize the special obligation to the public and regret exceedingly the inconvenience and loss to which public and private interests are being subjected, and with that recognition desire to advise you that we will be willing to refer the existing differences to arbitration provided a board of arbitrators mutually acceptable can be secured.

"We would respectfully suggest that if you, on behalf of the government, should be desirous of taking further action in this matter the parties to the differences should be more closely in touch with you for personal conference, and we await your suggestions in this connection.

(Signed) "JAMES MURDOCK."

In view of the fact that President Hayes has not taken a stand against arbitration the feeling here is more hopeful that Minister King's persistent efforts to place the whole controversy before a board of arbitration will be successful.

Situation More Favorable.

Montreal, Que., July 23.—A more favorable aspect of the arbitration negotiations conducted by the Department of Labor at Ottawa and the return to work of the Wabash men were the most encouraging features of the Grand Trunk strike situation from the viewpoint of the public today. The insistance of the men that Messrs. Clark and Morrissey serve upon any Board of Arbitration that might be suggested was regarded as an unsurmountable obstacle to further negotiations and their change of attitude today in agreeing to the appointment of arbitrators, "mutually acceptable," at least offers an entering wedge to the labor department's efforts to place the controversy in the hands of arbitration.

Prior to the receipt of this encouraging news from Ottawa, the official declaration of the Grand Trunk was that the strike of its conductors and trainmen no longer exists.

Lawrence, Mass., July 23.—The Pacific Cotton Mills in this city and Dover, N. H., were shut down today, and will re-open August 1st. The mills employ 7,000 operatives.

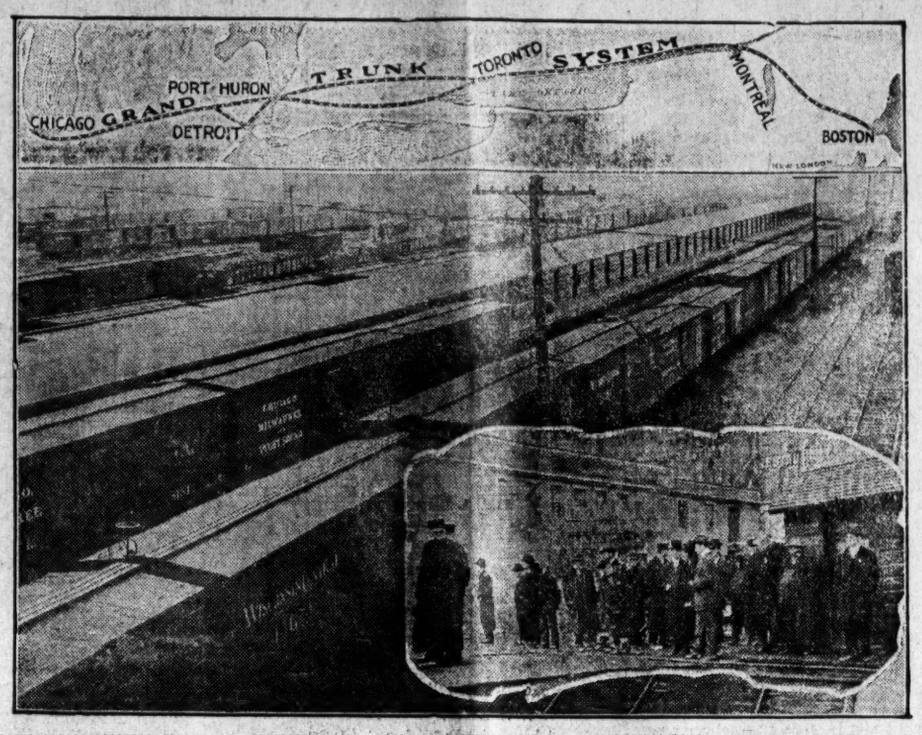
Grand Trunk and Scenes of Great Strike Now in Progress



DR. CRIPPEN MAY BE LOCATED

Wife Murderer and Typist Believed on Steamer Sardinian Bound to Montreal—French Communicating With the British.

London, July 23.—The belief is held by Scotland yard that Dr. Hawley H. Crippen and Ethel Leneve are on board the steamship Sardinian which sailed from Havre for Montreal on July 18th.

It is variously stated in the newspapers that Inspector Dow sailed for Canada on the steamer Laurentic the steamer Caronia and the steamer Baltic, but the police refuse to divulge which of these is carrying the inspector as a passenger.

According to a circumstantial story from Havre, two hours before the departure of the Sardinian, two passengers, who were registered at the Rev. Mr. Robinson and son boarded the vessel. The former was attired in clerical garb. He wore spectacles and had a short straggling, and apparently a new grown beard, but no mustache. The most noticeable feature was the man's heavy projecting eye brows. The newcomers engaged a second class cabin.

No suspicion attached to the couple until the steward noticed that the Rev. Mr. Robinson's eye brow was slightly separated from the forehead. On further watching the steward was assured that the alleged son was a girl.

The captain of the Sardinian sent a wireless description of the two to the French police, giving it as his opinion that the couple were really Dr. Crippen and the Lenve woman. The French police communicated with the British authorities who are of the opinion that Crippen and his companion, after fleeing from London separated in the South of France, and re-joined each other at Marseilles, traveling together from that place to Havre.

Searched Steamer Uranium.

Halifax, N. S., July 23.—Acting on a cablegram from Scotland Yard, Halifax detectives searched the Northwest transport line steamer Uranium before she docked here tonight in the search for Dr. Crippen, but no trace of the missing dentist or his traveling companion, Miss Leneve was found.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTES.

Dr. Noble Doing Good Work—Condition of Crops.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 23.—Dr. M. C. S. Noble, of the chair of pedagogy, University of North Carolina, was here today returning from a teachers' institute at Warrenton which had an auspicious closing yesterday when there was a picnic appended by the people of all that section. Dr. Noble, Rev. Mr. White and Mr. Trasker Pope were the speakers. Every public school teacher in the county was registered for the institute except a few who were satisfactorily accounted for. There were a large number also from adjoining counties. Dr. Noble goes Monday to Burgaw, Pender county, after spending Sunday at his old home in Wilmington.

Commissioner of Agriculture Graham is back from a three weeks' stay at his plantation in Lincoln county and says the corn crop in all that section of the State is exceptionally fine and that while the cotton crop is somethink like two weeks late, it is developing wonderfully with the promise of at least an average yield if the frost does not make an early visitation this Fall. It is said now that taken the State over the crop conditions and prospects are nothing like as discouraging as they were thought to be some weeks ago and really average crops at least may be expected except where some local condition has made inroads.

PROHIBITION ISSUE IN TEXAS

Primary Elections Held Yesterday Based on This Question—Returns Coming Slow and Outcome Uncertain—Bitter Feeling.

Dallas, Tex., July 23.—With the vote polled the largest in years and the count of the lengthy ticket, which began at 7 o'clock progressing slowly, the early returns indicate but little of today's State primary election. Returns at 10 o'clock were meagre, and told nothing which might be taken as indicative of the trend of the vote.

As to the prohibition question the contenders both for an against the submission of a proposed constitutional amendm nt to popular vote, an issue decided at the primary, see much to encourage them from the first returns although the vote against submission is slightly in the lead. However, it will be hours before the count can be completed and from the more remote districts, the returns will probably not be received until late tomorrow.

Altnough personal feeling was intense and factional lines tightly drawn, but one incident of disorder has been reported and that not directly connected with the voting. It occurred at Belton, were a negro was burned at the stake last nigh for the killing of a onstable, who was to have been selected today. The appearance of a negro driving the hearse bearing the remains of the slain officer was the signal for a demonstration but before it had assumed serious proportions he was replaced by a white man and excitement subsided.

At 11 o'clock returns indicate that the proposition to submit the proposed constitutional amendment was carried. For governor Colquitt is still leading.

St. Paul, Minn., July 23.—Returns received tonight from a large number of the county conventions held all over the State today to select delegates to the State Convention indicate an overwhelming sentiment for John Lind, of Minneapolis, former governor, as the candidate for governor. On the issue of county option the party seems hopelessly divided.

Van Couver, B. C., July 23.—The total loss by forest fires in British Columbia is officially estimated today at $3000,000. Practically all the fires in the upper country have been extinguished.

ROPKE TOOK OVER A MILLION

Stolen From the Fidelity Trust Company at Louisville, Ky.—Announced by Stockholders—Accused Safe in Prison.

Louisville, Ky., July 23.—John W. Barr, president of the Fidelity Trust Company, late this afternoon said that the entire surplus of the company $1,140,000 had been stolen. This is supposed to represent the shortage of Assistant Secretary Ropke, now in jail here.

August Ropke was the assistant secretary and general bookkeeper of the Fidelity Trust Company, perhaps the soundest financial concern in Louisville and believed to have been the first trust company organized west of Pittsburg. He had been in the employ of the concern for 18 years and because of his splendid work in books and his shrewdness in handling deals for the bank, gained the confidence of the officials.

About two weeks ago a shortage of $6,000 was accidentally discovered by one of Ropke's assistants and the matter reported to his superiors. This resulted in Ropke's arrest and his incarceration on the charge of embezzlement. He was sent to jail in default of $25,000 bail and a firm of Chicago experts put to work on his books. The shortage grew daily until it reached the stupendous amount reported today at a special meeting of stockholders held late this afternoon. Some of Ropke's property has been recovered and turned over to the bank. The Fidelity Trust Company recently issued $1,000,000 stock to make good the loss. Ropke was a heavy speculator.

BURNING SHIP AT SEA.

Wireless Unable to Locate Steamer Momour Last Night.

Atlanta, Ga., July 23.—Reports received here at midnight are that no wireless stations along the South Atlantic coast, including Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville and Key West, have received any information regarding the steamer Momour, of the Southern Pacific Line, which is afire off Cape Canavarel, since morning, nor has any report been received from the sister ship Comus, which rescued the passengers of the Momour. United Wireless and Government wireless operators at Key West are making efforts to reach the vessels. Last reports were that the flames were under control, all passengers were safe and the Momus would be able to make port.

Savannah, Ga., July 23.—The operator at the Savannah station of the United Wireless Telegraph Company today learned from the steamship Alamo that the Momus was on fire. The Alamo had picked up a message from the Momur to the station at Jupiter, Fla. The operator on the Alamo understood that Momur had been beached near Cape Canavarel, after the steamship Comus had taken off the passengers. The Comus was still standing by the burning vessel, according to the understanding of the operator of the Alamo.

BUCK STOVE SITUATION

End of Fight With Organized Labor is Announced.

St. Louis, July 23—Formal announcement was made tonight by J. T. Tempieton, secretary of the Bucks Stove and Range Company of the end of the fight with organized labor. The employes of the plant are to be organized. The secretary, however, did not state if the present workmen would be required to join the union.

The announcement in part says: "The present management is and always has been friendly to organized labor. We believe labor has a right to organize for its protection and advancement."

A MADRIZ CONSUL MAKES A PROTEST

Claims United States Has Wrongly Treated Titular Government

THE NICARAGUAN SITUATION

Washington, July 23.—Protest against the action of the State Department of the United States in refusing to recognize as binding under international law the order of Dr. Madriz, provisional president of Nicaragua, declaring Bluefields a closed port and in refusing further to take seriously Norway's recognition of this order, was made today by Corry M. Stadden, consul here for the titular government in Nicaragua.

Reports were received by Mr. Stadden from Madriz of the routing of Cotalopa after nine hours of fighting of 900 insurgents and of the capture of many prisoners.

Mr. Stadden's statement, issued today concludes with the observation that "if the State Department will diligently observe international obligations due to a friendly state, the insurrection soon will be suppressed, with due care for the preservation of American lives and property."

The statement in part says: "King Haakon having recognized President Madriz as the DeJure as well as De Facto of Nicaragua, as all other powers, with the exception of the United States, having diplomatic relations with Nicaragua have done, it was eminently proper for him to recognize the decree closing the port of Bluefields. This action was based upon a formal protest that vessels flying the Norwegian flag had committed hostile acts toward a friendly government, thereby incurring liability to seizure.

"It should be beneath the dignity of the State Department to quibble over the character of the gunboat Venus which was publicly purchased in the United States for the titular government of Nicaragua. If she is operating unlawfully she may be seized as a pirate. As she has not been seized it must be presumed that she is operating entirely within the law, and she should not have been driven away from Bluefields by the American commander.

"All of the official acts of President Madriz, since he assumed office in December have stamped the lie upon the evil reports issuing from insurgent sources that he is not sympathetic towards the United States and American interests in Nicaragua.

"President Madriz has neither sympathy for nor affiliation with former President Zelaya. The insurrection was begun to oust Zelaya. In this it has been eminently successful. It has now dwindled to little more than one per cent. of the population and if the State Department will diligently observe international obligations due to a friendly state, it will soon be suppressed, with due care for the preservation of American lives and property."

Protests against the murder by the revolutionists of Chichow, a Chinese merchant at San Pedro Del Norte, has been made by the Chinese residents of Nicaragua to the representative here of their government. Chong Sing, who was Chichow's business partner, announced the murder in a letter to a friend in this country, and has filed an individual protest.

He says the murder was committed by Agabito Gonzales, a captain of the revolutionists and that the latter claims all his stores at San Perdo Del Norte.

Opens Port of Bluefields.

New Orleans, July 23.—Trade between American ports and Bluefields, Nicaragua, is to be resumed as a result of the action of the American State Department in the declaring Bluefields on open port. It was announced tonight that the steamers Imperator and Dictator would sail tomorrow morning. The Imperator cleared this afternoon for Bluefields via Cape Gracias, with a miscellaneous cargo.

Following the receipt today of the statement given out by the foreign office at Christiana, Norway, local steamship agents received cable messages from Norwegian owners agreeing to permit the sailing to Bluefields of steamers which have been tied up here since Norway declared its recognition of the so-called blockade of the Madriz government against the port and principal stronghold of the Nicaragua insurgents.

The only ships which have been available for Bluefields, have been of Norwegian register.

It was reported that in the event that no ships could be secured the insurgents would utilize the converted yacht Hornet recently sold by the Federal Government to a local shipyard and now on the way from Norfolk to New Orleans. This would have served to keep the insurgents in bread and meat and ammunition, but it would have seriously interferred with the plans the insurgents are said to have in connection with pitting the Hornet against the Madriz gunboat Venus. Consequently, when it became known tonight that the blockade would not be observed, there was much joy in the local insurgent camp.

Madriz Claims a Victory.

Managua, July 23.—President Madriz announces a victory by General Vasquez, occupying Comalapa over the insurgents. General Vasquez, in command of 200 men, was attacked by four hundred provisionals. During the course of the engagement, General Valdez with reinforcements surprised the provisionals attacking them from the rear. The battle lasted four hours and many were killed or wounded on both sides. General Valdez suffered serious injuries.

CUMMINS ATTACKS PARTY'S LEADERS

Branded Speaker Cannon and Senator Aldrich As Traitors.

SAYS THEY AIDED RAILROADS

Seems to Think Republican Party Was Formed to Make Men Rich, Urges Fight to Destroy Their Political Leadership.

Peabody, Kas., July 23.—Senator Albert B. Cummins, of Iowa, in his speech before the chautauqua here today asserted that Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon were traitors to their party, if not to the country, when they gave their support to the Wickersham railroad bill as it came from the Attorney General's office and demanded that it go through Congress.

"That bill was a direct repudiation of the Republican party platform of 1908 and it was directly in the interest of the railroads and not in the interests of the great common people of the country," Senator Cummins said.

Speaker Cannon and Aldrich and men of their class seem to think the Republican party was formed to make men rich. I think it was born to make men free. They think it was born to make men millionaires; I believe it was born to drive misery out of this country.

"Senator Aldrich has vigorously opposed all reputation of the railroads by Congress ever since the bill to create the Inter-State Commerce Commission was introduced in 1887. I was born, and always have been a Republican, but I cannot and will not follow the leadership of a traitor to his party and the people.

Senator Cummins spoke in a big tent where the heat was intense, but he continued his address for two hours to a large audience.

"I am a recruiting officer," he said, "for the army that will destroy the political leadership of Speaker Cannon and Senator Aldrich. I want to enlist men and women in this army, for its best work will be done in the homes."

RARITAN CLAIMS VICTIMS

Two Sisters and Their Escort Drowned in New Jersey Yesterday.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 23.—The swift and treacherous under-currents of the Raritan Bay sucked down two young sisters and their escort to their death and utterly exhausted a third young girl of the party.

The dead: Anna Hill, 21 years old, Highland ark; Edith Hill, 19 years, Highland Park; Gordon Silverthorne 22, Newark, N. J. Rescued Helen White, 20 New Brunswick, came near drowning.

The young people were camping out near here and rowed from shore today for an afternoon swim. A hundred yards out they dived over board together.

Silverthorne had hot gone far when he heard Anna Hill scream for help. She went down twice before he could reach her and din ot rise again.

Overcome by grief and exhaustion he was soon splashing wildly.

Meantime Harry Bloodgood put out from shore in another rowboat and succeeded in getting Edith Hill and Miss White aboard, but not before Silverthorne sank. He was unconscious when hauled into the boat. Physicians worked faithfully over an three but onl Miss White was revived.

Southamboy, N. J. July 23.—Four men here who heard of the drowning near New Brunswick were speeding thither in an automobile this evening when the steering gear balked and the machine plunged over a high embankment and overturned. Edward Dugan, a widower, with seven children was killed outright. William Monaghan had several ribs broken and sustained internal injuries and the other two men were painfully hurt.

25 VICTIMS OF STORM.

Terrific Cyclone Swept Over Milan—Property Damaged.

Milan, July 23.—A terrific cyclone swept over the district northwest of Milan today, doing great damage to the towns of Saronno, Ravellasca and Lonate Pozzolo. It is estimated that about 25 persons were killed and many wounded. The victims include several workmen employed on the railway.

Many houses were unroofed and telegraph lines were levelled. Some dwellings were cracked and shaken as though they had been through an earthquake.

Wilmington at Goldsboro.
Rocky Mount at Fayetteville.

With two men down in the ninth, Wilmington put two men across the rubber, and won the first game with the Railroaders yesterday, and the side was retired with the third still alive. Two singles and an error were the cause of the tables being turned so suddenly, the visitors having succeeded in getting a score in their half of the ninth which looked like cinching the victory.

Hanks held the opposition forces to five hits, while the Sailors plucked ten clean ones off Big Chief Thorpe. But for a couple of errors in the third inning, which resulted in two scores for the Railroaders, the score would have been one to four. The game was full of pepper from the beginning and was exciting to a nerve racking degree.

There was nothing doing in the first with the exception of free transportation handed to Cooper, who died on second, but in the second chapter, Creagan led off with a single to center, was out on fielder's choice on second, while Schuman, who bunted, was safe on first. Gastmeyer and Phelan next up, retired the side by fanning, and skying respectively. In Wilmington's half Burke singled to left, Brooks flew to center and while Kluttz was up Burke made second on wild pitch, Kluttz expiring on first, second to first, while Burke made third. While Kite was at the bat Burke scored on another wild pitch, and Kite flew to left.

Rocky Mount went one better in the third, when Dussault, the first man up, went to second base on wild throw of Dubbs to first, and scored when Big Chief hit to left for one station and stretched it another on error of Tydeman. Gillespie sacrificed, advancing Thorpe to third, Forgue singled to infield scoring Thorpe, and went to second on Stein's sacrifice, but Creagan was out third to first.

Wilmington was out in order in this inning as was Rocky Mount in the fourth. Brooks got a single in the last half, but did not get any further. In the first half of the fifth Gillespie hit one to short, and stole second, but Forgue retired the side, pitcher to first.

Kluttz started off with an infield hit to third, Mills running for him, Kite sacrificed him to second, and when short fumbled Hanks' hit to second, Mills scored, Hanks being safe on first. Mills took first in place of Hanks, but was chased down between second and third when Dubbs placed a single in right field. Cooper singled to left advancing Dubbs to second, but Tydeman was out on foul fly to catcher.

Three up, three down, was Rocky Mount's fate in the sixth, while for the locals Burke was given first when he was hit by pitched ball, after Mills had ethered, but Brooks flew out to second and Burke was caught off first, second to first. Only nine pitched balls were required to retire the visitors in the seventh, these being nine successive strikes, and in the last half, after Kluttz had expired on first, Kite singled to center, but the side was retired by a double play, short to second to first, when Hanks pealed one to short.

In the eighth, Thorpe was out pitcher to first, and Gillespie met a like fate at the hands of short. Forgue then sent one to left center for two cushions, and Stein took first on four balls, but Creagan dampened their spirits when he flew out to Kluttz. In the other half, after Dubbs had died at first, Cooper singled to center, and stole second, but Tydeman fanned for the third time, and Mills went out to second.

The Railroaders again got in the lead when Schuman was given a free conveyance to first, and was sacrificed to second by Gastmeyer. Phelan was out on first, but Dussault followed with a single to second, scoring Schuman. Thorpe then forced Dussault at second.

Then came the Mathewsonian finish in the locals' half. Burke couldn't find 'em, Brooks' dying gasp was on first, but Kandy Kid Kluttz landed one safe in right garden, Mills taking his place to run; Kite hit safe to the infield and went to third when Gillespie couldn't put it to first, while Mills ambled home. Hanks next came up with a single to center and when Kite scored, the side was retired by the manager.

The Second Game.

The second game ran only seven innings by mutual consent at the beginning. "Big Chief" was sent in again at his request, and pitched a much better game than the first, allowing only four hits, all in different divisions of the game. Howard, for the Sailors, let them bunch four hits in the fourth inning, which enabled them to put a lone run across, and this won the game.

The only error of the game was charged to Brooks in centerfield, and it was well played on both sides. Three up and three down was the history of both sides in the first, and in the second after Creagan had struck at three wide ones and Schuman had died on first, Gastmeyer hit to infield for one cushion, and stole second, but Phelan was out pitcher to first. Wilmington was out in order. Dussault started the third by fanning; Thorpe singled to center and went to second when Brooks dropped the ball, but Gillespie flew to right. The locals had a near score in their half when Kluttz singled to left, Mills running for him, and was sacrificed by Kite, but Howard and Dubbs were out on first with the assistance of short, and Mills expired on third.

In the fourth, Forgue singled to center, but was caught napping. Stein singled over second, Creagan singled to left, advancing Stein, and Schuman hit to left, scoring Stein, and went to second on throw-in. Creagan was holding down third, but when Gastmeyer hit to right the side was retired by a neat double play, right to second to catcher.

In the last half Mills singled to center but the other two ethered. Phelan was out on first in the next inning; Dussault singled to left, but was forced at second when Thorpe hit to pitcher, Thorpe later being chased down by Burke between first and second.

Kite got another hit in this inning, but it did not accomplish anything, and both sides were out in one, two, three order in the sixth. Phelan and Burke each got another hit in the seventh, but no one backed them up, and with this the game was over.

NO DISRUPTION OF LEAGUE

Change of Management for Raleigh Team and Schedule Will be Continued—Wilmington on a Firm Basis.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 23.—Raleigh fans in mass meeting tonight determined to continue in the Eastern Carolina Baseball League, $900 being raised towards the $1,200 deficit of the old management, with assurances that the remainder will be forthcoming readily early in the week. An entirely new management takes over the team with W. H. Williamson, A. I. Cox, W. H. Bagley, J. V. Simms and Mr. R. G. Sherrill as directors. This action assures the continuance of the League for the remainder of the season.

The above telegram last night from the Star's Raleigh correspondent was received with enthusiasm by local fans. Like Raleigh, Wilmington has also experienced some trouble in financing her team, but several days ago five or six of the most devoted followers of the sport met and arranged to continue the team in the League, regardless of consequences. It was stated after receipt of the telegram above last night that these gentlemen would continue the Wilmington team on a firm basis and that the season would be completed. The Wilmington team leaves Monday to take up the schedule of games and will be strengthened as fast as the new management is able to connect with the proper material.

FIG CULTURE IN CAROLINA.

Timely Bulletin Issued by State Agricultural Department.

A very timely bulletin on fig culture has just been prepared and published by the North Carolina Experiment Station. The publication was prepared to supply information with reference to the growth and maketing of the fig, for at this time much interest is manifested in fig culture by farmers and other fruit growers in most sections of the upper South. The bulletin deals with the climatic requirements of the fig, as well as the sections of the State suited for the growth of this fruit. It discusses the advantages and opportunities the State has over oher sections.

Such subjects as soils for figs, propagation, planting, cultivation, mulching, manures and fertilizers, irrigation, pruning, Winter protection, harvesting marketing, uses and varieties are fully discussed. The important subject of the premature dropping of green or immature figs is fully treated; and remedies for same are given.

A copy of this bulletin may be secured free by addressing Director C. B. Williams, West Raleigh, N. C.

FROM ROCKY POINT.

Methodist Conference at Burgaw—Dr. Kilgo to Speak.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Point, N. C., July 23.—Rev. J. N. Cole, of the Methodist Orphanage at Raleigh, delivered a most effective sermon today at Burgaw. Responses for aid in the work were liberal. There has been a large attendance of ministers and delegates at the District Conference. Burgaw has entertained them well. Quite a lot of preachers and delegates have gone home. Bishop Kilgo arrived on the evening train and will preach to perhaps the largest audience that ever assembled at Burgaw.——Crops improving with sunshine; farmers in better heart.

RALEIGH WON LISTLESS GAME

(Special Star Telegram.)

Goldsboro, N. C., July 23.—The hitting was light today on both sides but errors enabled Raleigh to win a rather slow and listless game.

In the fifth, Simmons leading off with a hit, two runs were scored on wild throws. With Clemens on third, Hobbs batted in the winning run. Goldsboro's runs came from a walk, a sacrifice and two wild throws. Gates, hit by a pitched ball, was forced to retire. Evans starred in left, making eight put-outs.

MULTIPLEX COMPANY FAILS.

Invention of Prof. Rowland Has Proven Unsuccessful.

Baltimore, July 23.—The Rowland Telegraphic Company, a corporation formed about ten years ago to exploit the multiplex telegraph-printing machine invented by the late Prof. Henry A. Rowland, of the Johns Hopkins University, went into the hands of a receiver today. The assets are stated to be $257,621 and the liabilities $418,418.

The Rowland Telegraph-Printing machine was to have allowed the sending of any number of messages each way over one wire, the machine being arranged to send the messages in series of fours. Prof. Rowland spent his last years in working over the invention, but he died just as the machine was being placed upon the market and other engineers had to finish it.

Remnant of Team Pitted Against Wilson Yesterday—Luyster Lost Both on Hard Luck—Entire Series to Visitors.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Fayetteville, N. C., July 23.—The second time since entering the Eastern Carolina League, the Fayetteville Highlanders or the remnant thereof lost an entire series on their home grounds by dropping both games today. Luyster worked in both games and pitched in terrible luck, losing the first on two errors while Fayetteville should have had the only run of the game but a passed ball and a raw decision, reversed the score. O'Halloran's and D. McGehan's work and Mullen's batting and base running featured.

HABEAS CORPUS FOR CHILD.

Durham Husband and Father Rushes Across Country to Raleigh.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 23.—Mrs. Roscoe Myers is tonight under police surveilance here with her seven-year-old daughter, awaiting the arrival of her husband and father from Durham to procure a writ of habeas corpus for the child to be turned over to him. The police located Mrs. Ayers at a boarding house here this evening and notified the distracted husband and father at Durham, so he came across the country in an automobile tonight accompanied by counsel. The writ is issued by Chief Justice Walter Clark, of the Supreme Court, and hearing is expected Monday. Mrs. Ayers admits she kidnapped the child. She came from Roanoke, Va. She says she kept the child quite a while after she and her husband separated and he kidnapped it from her two years ago. Now she thinks it is but fair she should have the child a while. She has been living with her people in Roanoke, Va., since she left her husband, who is a car dispatcher of the Durham Traction Company.

Kneisel String Quartette will play a selection at the Lumina concert tonight. **

WEEK'S NEWS AT LUMBERTON

Lumberton, N. C., July 23.—Those of our people who went to Wrightsville to attend the Congressional convention and expecting a warm time regardless of the ocean breezes, do not seem to have been disappointed in that respect. Many returned wearing smiles and countenances of satisfaction, while others carried signs of disgust.

Those who we have heard express themselves say it was a record-breaker and declare they never want to attend another convention if it has to be anything like the Wrightsville storm. The convention seems to have been a rapid worker, as after all the disorder it produced twin candidates in about 24 hours, and by the time the Republicans get through with it there may be triplets. Everybody seems to be at sea, nobody being able to forecast the result. Everyone is agreed on one thing—Mr. Clark is a good clean man, and one that the district may be proud to vote for. The Republicans are wearing smiles of satisfaction. During the convention Lumberton people were kept well posted on what was being done, The Robesonian and Star both furnishing bulletins. Manager Hamilton, of the Western Union, was at his best and gave possibly the best service ever given here. He stayed on the job Thursday night until everybody was worn out and he was left alone. The Western Union has thousands of good men in its service but patrons of the Lumberton office would not exchange Mr. Hamilton for any of them.

The indications are that a good many people from this section will take advantage of the excursion to Johnson City, Tenn., next week. All who have ever been on an O. R. C. excursion know that everything is first class, and no pains are spared to make everyone have a good time. This will be no exception, and people in this section who have never seen the mountain scenery in western North Carolina will never have a better opportunity. While the advertising matter does not say anything about the colored people, we are told that cars will be provided for all the colored people who may desire to go. Messrs. John Morris and John Gilmore, who will have charge of the refreshment car, are making arrangements to take care of the crowd, so that there will be no need to worry about something to eat. Meals will be served right on the train at home prices. Train will leave Lumberton 7:25 A. M., arriving at Johnson City at 6:30 P. M.

It is told on one of the delegates to the Wrightsville convention this week, that he was so anxious for the time to arrive and so greatly feared that the supply of railroad tickets would be short that he actually went down to the station last Sunday and purchased his ticket, though he did not need it until Wednesday morning. He told a friend who accompanied him to the station Sunday that he did not propose to take any chances of not getting a ticket, that he had to have it then.

Lumberton will have its opening tobacco sales Tuesday, the 26th, at which time it is expected a good deal of the weed will be disposed of. Several of the gentlemen who conduct the tobacco sales at this place every season, have been here some time making prparations for the season. We have heard several farmers express themselves as being much pleased with their tobacco crops this season, while others say it is not as good as they have had.

Contractor A. A. Ivey began work this week on a machine shop and automobile warehouse building for Mr. Sandy McLeod on the vacant lot just east of the residence of Mr. E. D. McNeill. The building is to be built of brick, 56x75 feet, single story.

Deputy Sheriff A. E. Spivey carried a colored woman to the asylum at Goldsboro Wednesday, leaving here at 9:35 A. M. and returning at 6:15 P. M. The round trip, Lumberton to Goldsboro via Fayetteville and Selma, in eight hours and 50 minutes is not bad traveling.

The town is now making war on the grass and weeds which in some sections have almost blocked the sidewalks. The rainy weather for the past month has given the grass a chance to show itself and the advantage has not been neglected. With fair weather and the present force of men at work, in a few days there will be a great change in the appearance of the different streets in town.

Several of the fishermen in the lower end of the county seem to be in all kinds of trouble on account of violating the fish law. It is against the State laws to fish with nets or traps in certain waters in Robeson county and if people will run the risk they may expect to catch trouble as well as fish. If the law is respected as it should be, in a very short time fishing in Lumber river with hook and line would be fine sport.

At last Lumberton is connected with the outside world by the long distance phone, and can talk with any point reached by the long distance system. This is one of the things we have been behind on and now that the service is here it is to be hoped that it will be liberally patronized, thereby insuring good service. The rate to Wilmington is 50 cents, and how often would a person be glad to pay many times that amount for the use of the phone just a minute.

The motion picture show which has been operated by Mr. G. Badger McLeod at the opera house for the past few months, closed last night. It is stated that another picture show, to be operated every night, will be installed at the same place, beginning on Monday night, August 1st. These shows are a source of much pleasure, especially to the young people.

County Superintendent J. R. Poole, gives notice that the Robeson County Teachers' Institute will be held in Lumberton, beginning August 15th, and lasting two weeks. An institute for the colored people will be held at the same time. These institutes will be conducted by Prof. W. H. Swift, of the Greensboro Graded Schools, Prof. R. E. Sentelle, of the Lumberton Graded School, and Miss M. L. Millman, an expert in primary work.

A telegram received yesterday from Mr. A. W. McLean, who is in a hospital at Rochester, Minn., states that the operation which had been performed on him for appendicitis was entirely successful and the many friends of Mr. McLean will be delighted to know that he is now on the road to rapid recovery.

While traveling through the country a few days ago with a gentleman friend, he pointed out an elegant home on the way and asked if we knew who lived there. We did not and so informed him. "Well, sir," said our friend, "the man who owns and lives in that house has a sister in the county home. He is absolutely too stingy to eat enough, and let his sister go to the county home rather than help her, because she is afflicted and not able to do much work." It is possible that such a man as that lives in Robeson county? Sad, but seems to be true.

The Seaboard is advertising an excursion to be run to Norfolk, Va., Aug. 2nd, the fare for the round trip from Lumberton being $4.50.

Two colored boys were before Mayor Rowland yesterday charged with snagging trains. They were discharged upon payment of costs and a good reprimand.

Mrs. Lloyd C. Townsend and little son will leave early next week for Morganton, where they will spend some time visiting relatives.——Mrs. Mollie R. Norment and children will leave tomorrow morning for Rowland, where they expect to spend seevral days with relatives.——Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dougherty and children and Mrs. W. D. Baggett and child, left yesterday morning for Blowing Rock, N. C., Mr. Dougherty will return in ten days or two weeks, but other members of the party will remain until September.——Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Durham and children left Thursday for Gastonia and Hendersonville. They will be away for several weeks.——Mr. Jno. A. Robinson and little daughter, Miss Jennie, father and sister of Mrs. Fred Singletary, after spending part of the week here, left yesterday morning for home at Early, S. C., accompanied by Mrs. Singletary and little son, who will spend some time in that town.——Mr. and Mrs. Richard Norment are expected home tonight from Asheboro, where they have been visiting relatives.——Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Townsend and children are among the Lumberton people who are visiting Wrightsville Beach.

The condition of Mr. C. P. McAllister, who has been sick of fever for the past three weeks, is now improved, and it is hoped he will soon be entirely recovered.

There has been no new cases of smallpox than the one discovered a few days ago, which is the only case that has been here. The patient is improving and no other cases are expected. As a matter of precaution, the guard is still maintained at the residence where the disease is located.

The Republicans of Lumberton township held their township convention this afternoon to appoint delegates to the county convention July 25th. Chairman E. E. Shooter being absent, Dr. R. M. Norment presided and V. M. Taylor acted as secretary. After several enthusiastic addresses the following gentlemen were appointed: V. H. Taylor, T. J. Davis, W. H. Kinlaw, R. M. Norment, J. T. Bullard, W. H. Barnes and R. O. Edmund.

There was a large Croatan picnic held at Old Union Chapel in this county today at which Col. N. A. McLean and Mr. R. W. Livermore made speeches, both of which are said to have been unusually fine efforts and were received with close attention. It is said the Croatans had been advised by some politicians to keep away from the picnic, telling them it was to try to deceive them in some things. Everybody knows it is useless to advise them to stay away when Col. McLean is to be there. Just as well say "go" as that is what they will do.

A dwelling in East Lumberton owned by Mr. Sandy McNeill and occupied by Mr. W. W. Wilson, of the Dresden Mills, was destroyed by fire this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective flue in the kitchen. Mr. Wilson carried $750 insurance on furniture, about half of which was saved. It was not learned as to insurance on the building.

A prominent Republican stated here tonight that he hoped his party would endorse Clark for Congress as he considered him the best man in the district, regardless of party.

Sheriff McNeill received a telegram tonight from John's Station, in the upper end of the county, saying a colored boy had been killed on John Will McQueen's place, near Maxton, and asking that the coroner be sent. No particulars were given.

DISCUSSING CONVENTION

Congressional Situation Enters Into Columbus County Affairs—Green Swamp Cases—Personal and General Items.

Whiteville, July 23.—The action of the Congressional Convention is all the sensation now in Whiteville, and our people are divided into two factions. The followers of Congressman Godwin seem determined to stick to their candidate, whether he was nominated by a rump convention or not.

Every conservative citizen deprecates that dual ticket and the split it will bring about in the Democratic party in our county and district. The Republicans are jubilant, and say they will put out candidates for every county office.

Editor Gantt, of the News-Reporter, who was a delegate from the county at large to the convention urges the both Messrs. Clark and Godwin refer their claims to the State Democratic Executive Committee for arbitrtion and adjustment, and if no other settlement of the matter can be had, that a second primary be called, in which every white Democratic voter be permitted to participate and then the candidate receiving the largest vote be declared the nominee. But it is hoped that the State Committee will be able to settle the matter without holding another election, but for which we have plenty of time. A number of the Godwin men declare that they will accept as final any decision made by the State Committee, but will not vote and support the nominees of the Wrightsville Beach Convention. Attempts are made to harmonize matters and unite our party. Many believe that if both Messrs. Clark and Godwin remain in the field there is great danger of this district sending a Republican to Congress, and it will also endanger the success of every county officer in the district. It is time for clear-headed Democrats to get together and untangle this mess.

Court convenes here next Monday, and several important civil cases will be tried, including some big damage suits.

There is considerable interest taken in the trial of the Green Swamp men, charged with destroying property belonging to the Waccamaw Lumber Co., and which will be heard in Bladen next week. Since the prosecutions were started depredations have ceased and the company is proceeding nicely. It is not thought they will have any more trouble, it matters not what be the result of the trial.

Mr. Rufus Meares, of Williams township, sent the News-Reporter here today a mammoth squash that weighed twenty-four and a half pounds. It is just one of the wonderful things that can be produced in Columbus county.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McDaniel have returned from Wilmington, where they had the misfortune to lose a valuable suit case. Some one took their's by mistake and they got one comparatively empty in exchange. Work today started on Madison street and the entire driveway from Vineland to Whiteville will be greatly improved.

Misses Edna and Laura Previtt, of Lumberton, are visiting here——Mrs. T. C. Johnson, of Lumberton, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Powell——Mr. Bruce Smith has returned to his home in Atlanta after a short visit to his son, Rev. Fred B. Smith.

Misses Reta Croom and Gladys Greer were the guests of relatives in Clarkton this week——Mr. J. Z. Mims, who has been sick for a number of months, left yesterday for a short visit to relatives at Sumter, S. C. He will go from there to Saluda, N. C., to spend the remainder of the Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. J. Gantt, of Spartanburg, S. C., are expected in Whiteville next week to visit Mr. Gantt's parents. They will also visit Wrightsville Beach before returning home. Mr. Gantt is a member of the House and an attorney of Spartanburg, while Mrs. Gantt is one of the most prominent specialist in the Piedmont section. She is secretary of the Spartanburg Medical Association and also president of the anti-tuberculosis movement in that county.

Miss Iola Baldwin was a charming hostess to a few friends on Friday evening. Music and progressive conversation were the features of the evening which proved a very delightful one to those present.

S.S.S. PERMANENTLY HEALS SORES & ULCERS

Old sores remain open and chronic ulcers refuse to heal because they are kept constantly irritated and infected by impurities in the blood. This impurity of the circulation comes from various causes. A long spell of debilitating sickness, which breeds disease germs in the system, the retention of refuse matters of the body because of a sluggish condition of the eliminative members, a continued malarial state of health, inherited bad blood, etc., are usually responsible. But whatever the cause of the infected circulation, the sore or ulcer CANNOT heal until the blood is purified. S. S. S. heals sores and ulcers in the very simplest way. It just goes into the circulation and removes the impurities and polluted matter which are the means of keeping the sore open; then the sore is bound to heal. S. S. S. is the finest of all blood purifiers, and not only does it cleanse the circulation but it adds the necessary healing qualities to the blood, and in this way assists nature to quickly cure sores and ulcers. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., can do no permanent good toward healing an old sore because such treatment does not reach the blood. These external applications may be soothing and cleansing, but the healing must begin at the bottom, and this is just what S. S. S. does by first purifying the blood, and then furnishing nourishment and health to all the flesh tissues. Book on Sores and Ulcers free to all who write and request it.

THE MORNING STAR

Published by the WILMINGTON STAR COMPANY (Inc.) Wilmington, N. C.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., under act of Congress, March 2nd 1874.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.

Sunday, July 24th, 1910.

"Is it illegal to loan liquor?" inquires a contemporary. It makes no difference which way the question is decided, it will interest more borrowers than it will lenders.

People who are seeking a pull with the Republican Legislature of New York will be surprised to know that what Col. Roosevelt can say in their behalf is not worth a cent a word at Albany.

The Washington administration is now after the bath tub trust, having entered suit at Baltimore on Friday. This may reduce the price of bath tubs for a continuation of immunity baths at Washington.

Some of the delegates to that roughhouse at Wrightsville Beach on Thursday mistook the arriving policemen for firemen. Things were red hot, it is true, but it wasn't the fire alarm that had been sent in. It was the riot call.

A Greensboro correspondent predicts a "monkey and parrot time" at the State Republican convention which meets at Greensboro August 10th. We fear, however, that we will not be in a position to enjoy hilarity at the expense of the Republicans.

A Baltimore husband swatted his wife in the head with a soup bone. She will be foolish to sue for divorce, for a husband who can bring home a soup bone is either a malefactor of great wealth or has predatory proclivities that entitle him to recognition.

President Taft is chuckling because the United States Treasurer assures him that for the first time for quite a while there is a surplus in the Treasury. It is significant that he kept it quiet till his Congress adjourned and was out of reach of it. There are some people who should not be allowed to know when you have money.

A Washington girl had a man arrested because he had fallen in love with her and persisted in his attentions without an introduction. The smitten individual brought his troubles to a climax when he slipped his charmer a letter containing a ring set with a diamond and two rubies, but it turned out that the girl was engaged and seized the opportunity to display her loyalty to the other fellow. He might have had better luck earlier in the game.

Beginning tomorrow and ending with next Saturday, Newbern will have out the glad hand for thousands of visitors. Wilmington's sister city will celebrate the 200th anniversary of her settlement and it will be done on a scale so elaborate and magnificent that it will be worth going from all over North Carolina to see. It is hardly necessary to wish Newbern the completest success with her celebration. The city on the Neuse always scores a success when she undertakes anything.

Speaker Cannon is now 72 years old and is busily engaged in the political campaign, seeking vindication for himself after a public life of about 40 years. A man who has lived nearly three-quarters of a century and now finds it necessary to vindicate himself, has lived to little purpose. If a man cannot accumulate honors the older he grows, he had better examine himself, call a halt, and quit doing things that will bring him humiliation, lose him the confidence of his fellow men and leave him shattered self-respect when his locks grow white and his legs totter at the brink of the grave. The man who lives right all the time doesn't have to bother about vindication. He sleeps in an honored grave when his life comes to an end.

The Star has received the August, 1910, number of "The Tomahawk," published at High Point, N. C., in the interest of the Improved Order of Red men in North Carolina. It is the first number of a little magazine that is quite neat in form and there is every reason why it should have a large subscription list among the five thousand Red Men in this State. It is the official organ of the order in this State and it is well calculated to awaken and stimulate interest in the organization by imparting a more general knowledge of the purposes and work of the order and keeping its members informed as to the progress and work of this attractive and useful order. The editor and publisher is Mr. W. L. Stamey, Great Sachem, G. C., N. C., and his first venture into the realm of society journalism is nothing but promising. The subscription price is 50 cents a year and the publication is to appear monthly. A tomahawk is quite an indispensible thing for every live "injun" and no doubt North Carolina Red Men will take "The Tomahawk" for the purpose of completing their outfit for the warpath.

THE SIXTH DISTRICT.

It is indeed a most unfortunate situation which has developed in the Sixth Congressional District of North Carolina, one which is vital to party success in November and one which should challenge the prompt intervention of the State Executive Committee, without regard to personal ambition or technicalities.

As we understand it, the whole question hinges upon the manner of the selection of delegates to the convention from Cumberland and New Hanover counties, the Godwin forces contending that both counties should have been thrown out bodily, which would have ensured the nomination of their candidate without regard to the other gentlemen in the field, and the anti-Godwin forces replying that it would be manifestly unreasonable and unjust to deny representation to two of the largest and most important counties in the district, the only sins of which, certainly so far as New Hanover is concerned, were that they were unanimous for their "favorite sons," or were at least unanimous insofar as was concerned that proportion of their voters who took the trouble to respond to the call of their county executive committees and attend the various precinct meetings regularly held.

As to the time-honored manner of selecting the delegates by appointment of the chairman, the counties pursued exactly the same course as they pursued without question in 1906 when Mr. Godwin was nominated in Fayetteville; as was pursued without question on divers occasions when Mr. Geo. H. Bellamy was chosen as the nominee for the Senatorial district composed of the counties of Brunswick and New Hanover; as was recognized without question three weeks ago in the City of Wilmington when Hon. H. E. Shaw, of Lenoir, was nominated for solicitor of the Fifth Judicial District, and which went through without a hitch in the great State Convention a year ago when the Hon. William Walton Kitchin was nominated for Governor at Charlotte after one of the most strenuous political battles on record; yea, verily, in the very same manner as they were named without question, even by the same men, in the State Convention at Charlotte ten days ago when the lines were so sharply drawn between Allen and Manning and the wisest political leaders in North Carolina advantaged themselves of the strictest interpretations of the plan of organization and availed themselves of every legitimate technicality.

The anti-Godwin men claimed in the convention that regardless of the merits of the question, the matter should be referred to the Credentials committee for adjudication and also cited the gentleman from Harnett to that provision of the Democratic plan which says that no delegate from another county can challenge the vote of another county, but the chair ruled that the counties on the floor of the convention could not participae in an adjudication of their own status in the convention and this brought the action of the District Executive Committee as the only hope of preventing a bolt, which unhappily was not averted.

The situation is one which requires broad statesmanship, the subordination of personal ambition and personal preference to the greater good of the party. No one can gainsay that Oscar L. Clark is not a fit leader; that his nomination did not come until every effort towards harmony had been exhausted. There are some very wise political leaders, friends of both Mr. Godwin and Mr. Clark, who say that but for the revolutionary tactics of the Harnett delegation, their man would have ultimately won anyway, but once the move was made, the feeling was so intensified that nothing short of another would have satisfied the majority of the convention. The responsibility for the situation is an onerous one; the situation itself is one which should be speedy of settlement The State committee meets on August 1st. It is to be hoped for the benefit of the party in the Sixh District, that the members of he State committee from the Sixth District will at once call the attention of the State Chairman to the unfortunate predicament here and insist upon an adjudication at once.

A CITY PROSECUTOR.

The enforcement of the laws in Wilmington and everywhere else is recognized to be a matter of the greatest importance. For the guilty or the presumably guilty to escape the clutches of the law and get off scot free is a practical nullification of the laws and ordinances of the State and the city. It cannot be doubted that the avoidance of the law by parties accused of crimes or misdemeanors and other violations of law is quite common, and that it largely tends to make laws ineffective.

The first step towards bringing violators of the law to answer at the bar of justice is in the preliminary hearing before the city recorders and the justices of the peace. It is in these minor courts that the accused first face the charges made against them and it is for the recorders and justices to make the examinations with a view to exercising the jurisdiction with which they are severally empowered or to ascertain whether there is probable cause to enable them to bind over a defendant to the court of proper trial. These preliminary hearings ought to be regarded with more seriousness than usually attaches to them, for it is at these first hearings that the law has its first chance of being enforced or vindicated.

When accused persons or defendants are brought before the recorders and justices they usually are represented by adroit or able counsel and every effort is put forth either to prevent their conviction then and there or to prevail upon the recorders and justices by cunning argument not to bind over the defendants for whom counsel appears. In many instances the public has seen smart lawyers get their clients off when there was the strongest kind of a probability in the layman's mind that the accused ought to have been held for trial. It also is known that there are many instances in which counsel have either misled or persuaded minor judges to assume a jurisdiction that does not belong to them and actually to dispose of cases that should have gone up to the higher court for trial.

It is not intended to say that this is a common practice, but it has occurred and the possibility of its occurrence is always present as long as the preliminary trial officials are open to argument. Neither is it intended that defendants generally stand a chance of not being held to answer for violation of the law, but the reason that lawyers appear for them is to do their best to accomplish that purpose. The lawyer is there to argue the court into his way of thinking or to pull the wool over his eyes with certain legal technicalities with which the minor judges are not overly familiar. However, some of the recorders and justices know their business and the arguments of the lawyers do not succeed always in shielding their clients. The accused is often bound over to court, but as long as he has a lawyer to conduct his case in the preliminary courts there is always a strong probability that he will get off and go scot free.

The point which we desire to make is that whereas defendants have lawyers well prepared to look out for their interests, the law is permitted to take its chances. In other words no lawyer appears in behalf of law enforcement, and this brings us to a suggestion for the better enforcement of the law. An attorney should be present to look out for the interests of the public in the prosecution of cases, especially where they are of prime importance to the peace, good order and protection of a community. The Star has made these observations in approval of a recent editorial in the Charlotte Evening Chronicle which called attention in a striking way to the importance of having a lawyer to attend preliminary hearings in behalf of proper law enforcement. This matter was brought to the attention of the Chronicle by reason of the determination on the part of some citizens of Charlotte to see that the laws and ordinances of that city are not utterly disregarded as many of them have been since they were given a place in the city code.

Quite naturally the Chronicle commends the efforts to have the laws enforced and our esteemed contemporary remarks that two or three circumstances and agencies are responsible for the awakening in that city with regard to the importance and necessity of enforcing the laws and consequently protecting the community. The real awakening, says the Chronicle, began sometime ago when the city employed a city solicitor. J. L. Delaney, Esq., a shrewd young lawyer, was made city solicitor for Charlotte, and Editor Harris says his efficient work has proven that the city solicitorship is more important even than the city authorities realized when the appointment was made. At the time Charlotte appointed its city solicitor the movement was regarded as a wise step, and the vigorous, effective and faithful work of Solicitor DeLaney have fully vindicated both the plan and the choice of the lawyer to do the work assigned to him.

Wilmington would do well to follow the example of Charlotte in the employment of a city solicitor. It is true that we have an official known as the "city attorney" but his functions are supposed to be merely advisory to the board of aldermen on points of law and in the proper framing of ordinances. The city attorney is employed for his opinions when they are needed and for that he is paid a neat sum in the way of a fixed annual salary. He is not a prosecuting officer and does not even appear in civil cases for the city without extra compensation in addition to his salary. It would be a good idea to combine the duties of city attorney and city solicitor and pay a salary worthy of the position and the character of the work to be done. It should not be made a sinecure but the position should be filled by a lawyer selected with an earnest purpose and determination in view, and the man for the place should possess the ability and vigor that will make him a militant force and powerful factor in the enforcement of the laws adopted for the good order of the community and the protection of its citizens.

The necessity for such an official as a city solicitor will be plainly recognized if one will attend any of the preliminary trials held in the city. It is quite common for defendants to be brought up for examination on exceedingly grave charges, even envolving murder, burglary and other serious offenses. Invariably the defendants have their lawyers in court and the community and law have none. It is an every day occurrence, and the importance of having a law officer present in behalf of law enforcement is indeed striking. Not alone should a city attorney be present at such hearings in order to see that the defendants shall not get off lightly or go scot free, but in the event that any are bound over to the higher court the case will go up all the better prepared at the hands of a city solicitor who is on the spot to observe and secure stronger evidence than is usually furnished in the ordinary case as it goes up to the Superior Court, for instance. The solicitor of the Superior Court has fallen down in many instances where cases have been sent up in an improper way without any proper record of the evidence and frequently without the names of material witnesses. A city solicitor would avoid practically all that.

The employment of a city solicitor probably will not cost Wilmington any more than is now paid to the city attorney and in additional attorney's fees in extraordinary cases where the city's interests are involved. A city solicitor's talents and services can be auntilized for the city and in behalf of law enforcement in every particular, and if he needs assistance in one or more instances it can be easily secured. The matter of immediate importance in this instance, however, is that law enforcement should mee tdefendants at preliminary hearings.

UNENVIABLE NOTORIETY.

The Charlotte Chronicle has been struck by recent publications with reference to typhoid fever in the city of Wilmington, and that paper notes the fact that the Board of Aldermen of Wilmington has appropriated $5,000 for the purpose of fighting typhoid fever and other diseases. Our esteemed Charlotte contemporary correctly observed that the chief purpose in the expenditure of this appropriation will be the enforcement of the sanitary laws in the city and the improvement of the sanitary condition.

The Chronicle, commenting upon this matter says: "Wilmington is not the only city that has a large number of cases of typhoid fever than it is comfortable to contemplate and there are other cities that should pay more attention to the strict compliance with their sanitary laws."

There is no consolation for Wilmington in the fact that other cities cannot boast of being any freer from typhoid fever than this city, but while probably there are no more cases in Wilmington than elsewhere, according to population, it is no excuse to be offered. In fact, it is a delicate question to be broached at any time in a newspaper. A condition which is known in any city is no news for its inhabitants and the publication of it merely amounts to publicity to people abroad. It is an unenviable kind of notoriety and certainly is undesirable publicity. That kind of publicity is all the more undesirable because it does not remedy conditions or evils but does more harm than it does good. There are some times when good judgment in a newspaper shop dictates that it is better to say nothing than create a wrong impression or cause alarm.

If a condition exists in a city or there is an evil to eradicate, it is the duty of the citizens of that city to see that the proper thing is done if the officials are at all negligent in doing their duty. However, it is a serious proposition some times to publish to the world as news something that will be harmful instead of beneficial.

No doubt the Chronicle was correct in saying that Wilmington is not any worse off than other cities so far as typhoid fever is concerned. As a matter of fact, a reputable physician in Wilmington looked up the records in the office of Dr. Joseph Akerman, City Superintendent of Health, and ascertained the fact that only 34 cases of typhoid fever have been reported during the last three months. The deaths from this cause numbered six from January 1st to July 21st. Of these, one case was brought to the city for treatment, the case having been contracted aboard a dredgeboat down the Cape Fear river. Three of the other cases were colored patients and two whites. During the real period in which the deaths occurred from typhoid fever there were seven deaths from malaria. The mortuary record shows that during January there were no deaths from either malaria or typhoid. In February there was one of each, and in March none of each. In April there was one death from malaria and none from typhoid. The record in May was two deaths from malaria and none from typhoid. June passed away with only one death from malaria and none from typhoid, and in July there have been two deaths from malaria and five from typhoid. This shows that most of the typhoid fever cases occurred only recently, and naturally it is a disease that easily alarms a community.

This statement is made without attempting to make excuses for any one or for the city, but it is well to correct the very alarming reports that are being published abroad, well calculated o do mischief without affording a remedy. We have always considered it incumbent upon a newspaper to speak out upon a matter when principle is involved, but it is never good policy to throw out red lights around one's city except on very serious and rare occasions.

CURRENT COMMENT.

As each Democratic Congressional convention is held, it looks more and more as if they were trying to help elect Republican Congressmen. The Sixth district is the latest to get in line.—Greensboro News (Rep.)

We don't claim any special credit for having prophesied a hot time concerning the Sixth Democratic Congressional convention at Wrightsville Beach. It was only too easy to foresee.—Charlotte Observer.

Wars and rumors of wars have been the order of the day in the Democratic party all over the State this Summer. The unusually bitter fights for Congressional nominations in the fifth, sixth and tenth districts, and the less rancorous but none the less intense struggle in the third, have created a widespread impression that the Republicans are destined to profit when the votes are counted on the eighth day of next November. It would not be wise, however, to risk any important amount of money upon this belief, inasmuch as July is some distance removed from November and many things have been known to transpire politically in very much less time.—Charlotte Observer.

"UNLICENSED" DEALERS FINED

Messrs. E. M. and Son Roderick and Isaac Mintz Assessed $50 and Costs for Violating Near-Beer Ordinance.

Yesterday's session of the Recorder's court was the most interesting and important held in some time and there was a large crowd of spectators in the court room. Interest centered principally around the cases in which E. M. Roderick, Son Roderick and Isaac Mintz, all white, were charged with selling near-beer without license in violation of the near-beer ordinance adopted by the Aldermen at the beginning of the fiscal year.

The defendants were represented by Woodus Kellum, John W. Gafford and A. J. Marshall, Esqs., while Herbert McClammy, Esq., city attorney, prosecuted. Attorneys for the defense made a hard fight for their clients, but in the judgment of the Recorder the evidence was overwhelmingly against the defendants, each of whom was found guilty and fined the maximum amount —$50 and costs. Notice of appeal to Superior Court was given and the defendants gave bonds in the sum of $50 each for their appearance for trial before the higher tribunal. The defendants were arrested some days ago on warrants sworn out by a man employed especially for this work by Chief of Police Williams, following a conference with Chairman Springer of the Police and Fire Commission. The special officer went to work on the cases some two weeks ago.

The Recorder rendered his decision in the case against Randolph Henderson, colored, tried some days ago on the charge of assault with dealy weapon in connection with the shooting affair at corner of Seventh and Princess streets one night about ten days ago. The judgment of the court was that the defendant pay a fine of $25 and costs, or serve three months on the county roads. He had not arranged the fine and costs yesterday afternoon.

C. Peterson, a white man, was tried on two charges—disorderly conduct and resisting an officer. He was arrested Friday night at his home, near the Hilton Lumber Company, by Officer Frank George, the charge being disorderly conduct. He was in a fighting mood and resisted so strenuously that the officer was forced to club him. For disorderly conduct he was fined $5 and costs and for resisting the officer he was assessed $25 and costs.

A case against Sylvester Ashe, 14-year-old colored youth, charged with entering the residence of Col. Thos. W. Clawson last Sunday night and stealing a number of articles, was continued until Monday, as was also a case against Walter Guion, colored, charged with carrying concealed weapons. Several other cases were tried, but none of general interest.

REMAINS LAID TO REST.

Funeral Yesterday Morning of the Late Jacob Bornemann.

The funeral of the late Mr. Jacob Bornemann, the particulars of whose tragic death Thursday afternoon were given exclusively in The Star yesterday morning, was held from the residence of his brother, Mr. J. H. Bornemann, No. 618 Orange street, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, conducted by Rev. W. A. Snyder, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. There were present a number of friends and relatives of the deceased. The interment was in Bellevue cemetery. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Peter Fick, Martin Rathjen, John Haar, Henry Habenicht, F. Richter and Mr. King. Members of the family are convinced that Mr. Bornemann did not shoot himself with suicidal intent, but that the pistol was accidentally discharged, it being stated that he told three persons before he died that he was fooling with the weapon, which he always kept under his pillow, when it went off. They say that there was no reason whatever for him to take his own life.

FUNERAL OF MRS. M'GIRT.

Sad Services Held From Late Residence Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of Mrs. Lillian Andrews McGirt, the beloved young wife of Mr. William A. McGirt, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews, was held from the late residence, No. 213 Grace street, at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. C. Wootten, acting pastor of Grace Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. K. D. Holmes, pastor of Fifth Street Methodist Church. A large concourse of sorrowing relatives and sympathizing friends gathered at the grief-stricken home to pay a last sad tribute of respect to the memory of Mrs. McGirt, who was one of Wilmington's most popular young women. The interment was in Oakdale cemetery and many beautiful floral designs were banked around the newly made mound. the pallbearers were: Honorary, Dr. F. H. Russell, Messrs. Oscar Pearsall, I. W. Cooper, W. B. Cooper, J. W. Fleet, active, Messrs. W. B. Muse, Wilbur Dosher, Albert Dosher, Louis E. Hall, Frank Armstrong and H. G. Bowden.

DECEPTION AND FRAUD.

Rev. C. H. Sweet Preaches on This Subject Tonight.

According to the New Testament Scriptures the last days of this dispensation were to be characterized by great deception and fraud. See Matt. 24:11, 23-25; Tim. 4:1, 2; 2 Tim. 3:1-13; 4:1-4; 2 Thess. 2:9, 10; Rev. 16:13-15. It was to be the time of the special working of Satan as a Deceiver. Furthermore these deceptions were to be unusually specious and plausible "insomuch that if it were possible they shall deceive the very elect." Do these deceptions prevail today? If so then these are specially perilous times, and Christians, as well as the unsaved, need to know what God has seen fit to reveal to us with regard to them. Rev. C. H. Sweet will consider this important subject at the Fourth and Church Streets Advent Christian Church tonight at 8 o'clock. Plan to attend and bring some one with you

BRUNSWICK REPUBLICANS

County Convention Held at Supply Yesterday to Name Delegates to the Several Conventions. Harmonious Meeting.

Pursuant to call issued some weeks ago by Mr. J. Johnson, chairman of the executive committee, the Republicans of Brunswick county assembled in convention at Supply, N. C., yesterday at noon for the purpose of electing delegates to the State, Congressional, Judicial and Senatorial conventions. According to one of those present, the attendance was the largest ever known in Brunswick county for a convention of the kind and there was considerable interest shown, but the session is said to have been harmonious throughout.

The delegates to the county convention were elected at precinct meetings held throughout the county Saturday, July 9th, and practically all were in attendance when Chairman Johnson at noon yesterday called the convention to order. C. Ed Taylor, Esq., of Southport, one of the leading Republicans of the county, was made permanent chairman and Mr. Walter Leonard was chosen as secretary. Delegates to the several conventions, all of whom are uninstructed, were elected as follows:

State—D. R. Johnson, D. R. Walker, J. H. Smith, D. G. Hewett, G. W. Brooks, Isaac Jenrette.

Congressional—Robt. W. Davis, R. D. Harrelson, Luther Wilson, Jackson Johnson, Elisha Sellers, N. D. Bennett.

The delegates to the Judicial convention, which, like the Congressional and Senatorial has not yet been called, will be the same as elected to the State convention, which will be held in Greensboro August 10th.

The convention was in session for two hours, adjournment being taken at 2 o'clock.

The members of the new county executive committee held a meeting and elected Maj. D. R. Johnson, of Winnabow, as chairman, and Mr. Walter Leonard was re-elected secretary.

It is learned that the county convention to nominate candidates for the various county and legislative offices will be held the latter part of September.

REPUBLICANS ACTIVE.

New Hanover Primary Election on August 2nd—Meeting Monday.

New Hanover Republicans are apparently preparing for an active campaign for the November election. The advertising columns of the Star have already carried the formal call by Chairman D. L. Gore and Secretary D. D. Lennon for the primaries on August 2nd, and the subsequent convention, and this morning's paper carries a call for a meeting of of Republicans who can attend Monday night at 8 o'clock in the hall over Struthers' Cigar Store, on Front street, for the purpose of making arrangements for the primary. Representatives from each of the polling places are asked to be in attendance.

A leading Republican of the county was asked last night if it was probable that a county and legislative ticket would be put out this year to oppose that already nominated by the Democrats. He replied with a significant smile that "so far in advance, he could not speak for the convention."

SUPERIOR COURT TOMORROW

Two Weeks' Term for the Trial of Both Criminal and Civil Matters. Judge H. D. Whedbee to Preside.

The regular two weeks term of New Hanover Superior Court for the trial of both criminal and civil cases will convene tomorrow morning with Judge H. D. Whedbee, of Greenville, presiding. Solicitor Rodolph Duffy, of Catherine Lake, Onslow county, will be here the first of the week looking after the interests of the State in the cases on the criminal side of the docket.

Judge Whedbee, recently appointed by Governor Kitchin to fill the unexpired term of Judge Ward, of Newbern, and who is the Democratic nominee for judge in his district, has been holding court at Jacksonville, Onslow county, the past week and he made a most favorable impression upon the members of the bar of that county and the visiting attorneys. It was his first term of court as presiding judge and he displayed those qualities which go to make up an able lawyer and jurist.

It will probably take longer to dispose of the cases on the criminal side of the docket than was at first supposed as the number has already increased from nine to 23 and there are several other cases from the Recorder's court yet to be docketed. The most important case to come up at this term is the one in which Walter Way, a white man, 40 years old, a well known plumber of this city, is charged with the killing of Mr. C. L. Register, of Warsaw, Duplin county, the particulars of which are still fresh in the minds of the reading public. Register died at the James Walker Memorial hospital Tuesday night, following a difficulty on Sunday afternoon with Way. The coroner's jury on Thursday returned a verdict to the effect that Register came to his death as the result of a blow on the head inflicted by Way, who was committed by Coroner Bell into the custody of the Sheriff without bond until this term of court. The other cases on the criminal side of the docket are of minor importance and of little or no general interest.

The bar of the county met last Monday morning and fixed the calendar for the portion of the term that will be given over to civil matters. Only three days were given to criminal matters and the calendar was fixed for the remaining days, but if the case against Way is tried it is hardly probable that the criminal cases will be disposed of in three days. There will probably be a total of between 25 and 30 criminal cases for trial at this term.

The jurors drawn for the week are: H. O. Thomas, W. M. Baldwin, W. S. Craig, C. W. Yates, Jr., J. R. Bachelor, J. N. Jacobi, W D. Pugh, W. E. Higgins, C. W. Polvogt, R. A. Jarrell, H. E. O'Keefe, R. B. Boney, F. W. Kuhl, T. K. Kessler, B. F. Hobbs, W. B. Walton, J. R. Bruff, John C. Boesch, W. B. Monroe, S. C. Rhodes, C. S. Grainger, W. W. Galloway, J. A. Hines, B. L. Phipps, G. S. Nevens, W. B. Savage, Richard Padrick, J. D. Cottle, Thos. D. Meares, Bishop B. Pridgen, L. Stein, L. Y. Styne, J. M. Jarrett, C. W. Craig, M. F. Croom and C. H. Belvin.

DEATH OF MR. FRANK WILSON.

Passed Away at Hospital Yesterday After Illness of Fever.

Many friends in this city and elsewhere were shocked and saddened to learn of the death of Mr. Frank B. Wilson, a well known and popular young man, which occurred at the James Walker Memorial Hospital at an early hour yesterday morning, following an illness of three weeks of typhoid fever. He had been playing baseball at Boardman, Columbus county, and came here about three weeks ago ill of fever and was taken to the hospital. He was thought to be getting along splendidly until aobut three days ago when a decided change for the worse was noted. Since then his condition grew gradually worse until the hour of his death yesterday morning.

Mr. Wilson was born in Charlotte and was in the 28th year of his age. His brother, Mr. Lonnie M. Wilson, now a Pullman conductor running between this city and Charlotte, and to whom he was devoted, has lived in this city several years, and some five years ago Mr. Frank Wilson came here to reside with him. He was in the employ of the Tidewater Power Company for some time, later resigning to go to Waycross, Ga., to play on the baseball team there. He returned to this city some two or three years ago and has made this his home practically ever since. A few months ago he went to Boardman to play on the crack baseball team of that place and became ill there, being confined to his room for several days before he returned to Wilmington about three weeks ago. As soon as he was able he came to this city, but his condition did not improve and he was sent to the hospital. As stated his condition was not regarded as serious until about three days ago when there was a change for the worse. The announcement of the death of Mr. Wilson came as a great shock to his many friends in this city, for few were aware of his serious illness. Mr. Wilson was engaged to be married to Miss Myrtle Taylor, daughter of Mr. Elijah Taylor, formerly of this city, but now residing in the county, which makes his passing all the more sad and heart-rending.

Mr. Wilson is survived by two brothers, Mr. W. P. Wilson, of Charlotte, and Mr. Lonnie Wilson, of Wilmington, and one sister, Miss Daisy Irene Wilson, of Charlotte, all of whom have the tenderest sympathy of a great many friends. Mr. W. P. Wilson and Miss Wilson were expected to arrive from Charlotte on the late train last night.

The body was removed yesterday to the funeral parlors of Mr. W. E. Yopp, on Princess street, where it was prepared for burial and was taken late in the afternoon to the home of Mr. Lonnie Wilson, No. 707 South Seventh street.

Funeral of Mr. Watkins.

The funeral of Mr. William Taylor Watkins, whose death occurred Friday, was held from the late residence, No. 425 South Fourth street, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Thos. P. Noe, pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd. Many friends and relatives were present to pay a last sad tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased. The interment was in Oakdale cemetery. The pallbearers were: Messrs. William Howie, R. P. McClammy, Charles Daniels, Walter Herring, W. R. Middleton and James E. Sharpe.

Death of Little Son.

Many friends deeply sympathize with Policeman and Mrs. M. C. Huggins in the death of their bright young son, Charles Grant Huggins, which occurred at the family residence on North Fourth street yesterday morning. Bright's disease was the cause of death. The funeral services were conducted from the family home yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by Rev. Harold E. Beatty, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church. The body will be taken this morning to Whiteville, where the interment will take place.

Establish Icing Stations.

Fishing and icing stations will be established at Shallotte and Lockwood's Folly, Brunswick county, by Mr. Ed Taylor, the well known wholesale fish dealer of Wilmington, and several Northern business men. The stations will be opened and in operation by September 1st. Fish purchased by Mr. Taylor and those connected with him will be placed on ice at the two stations until they can be brought here and distributed to the various markets.

Successful Fishing Trip.

During the past week a party of disciples of Isaac Walton, guests at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, went to Topsail Inlet on a brief fishing expedition. They had fine luck, hooking 12 drum fish, weighing from 10 to 18 pounds each. The trip was made in the launch Louise, Captain Wells, and in the party were Messrs. Wardlaw, Sam Dick, of Atlanta; J. C. Jester, O. A. and T. H. Dozier and Mr. Harper, of Athens, Ga.

OFFICERS FOR YEAR NAMED

Important and Interesting Session Yesterday of Insurance Men Gathered at Beach—Several Addresses Made.

Yesterday morning another very interesting session was held at the Seashore Hotel by the members of the $100,000 Club of the Security Life and Annuity Company, and officers were elected for the ensuing year.

The meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock by Mr. C. C. Taylor, with Secretary G. A. Rankin present. A most interesting address and one that gave every agent present much food for thought was delivered by Mr. R. P. Ketchum, general agent at Cordele, Ga., his subject being "What is Required of an Agent to be a Success." He was followed by Mr. Peter P. Yates, general agent of the Asheville territory, who told the members of the club "How to Get the Name on the Dotted Line," and every word he said was intently listened to for above all things the agent likes to know how to get the applicant's signature, this being the point where the applicant usually balks. Mr. W. B. Upshur, general agent for South Carolina, with headquarters at Sumter, made an address on the "Relationship That Should Exist Between the Agency and Medical Departments." The last address was by Mr. G. H. Dortch, of Raleigh, his subject being "The Confidence of the Agent in the Management."

G. A. RANKIN.

Elected Secretary and Treasurer of $100,000 Club, Security Life and Annuity Co.

J. L. WIMBISH.

Elected President of $100,000 Club, Security Life and Annuity Co.

In addition to the above addresses a number of short talks were made, in fact nearly every insurance man present had something to say and some gave very interesting accounts of how prospects were landed. Mr. W. B. Upshur, of Sumter, told an especially good story of how he "got the name on the dotted line" of a $10,000 application.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: J. L. Wimbish, Winston-Salem, President; W. D. Frierson, South Carolina, vice president; G. A. Rankin, Macon, secretary and treasurer. The above officers, with the following, constitute the executive committee: A. M. Potter, Virginia; B. A. Kluttz, North Carolina; W. B. Upshur, South Carolina; C. D. Laundon, Georgia; D. C. Ketchum, Florida; G. A. Grimsley and C. C. Taylor, Greensboro.

There was some discussion as to where the next meeting of the club should be held and Mr. Peter P. Yates extended the members an invitation to meet in Asheville. Mr. F. A. Sloan, of Raleigh, did not think Wrightsville Beach could be improved upon. It was eventually decided to let the executive committee decide upon the time and place of the next meeting.

Resolutions were passed thanking the management of the Seashore Hotel for the courteous manner in which the agents had been treated, and also expressing the appreciation of the agents for the delightful outing given by the Security Life and Annuity Company.

This being all the business before the club, after the installation of the new officers, it was adjourned sine die.

As a further mark of appreciation, the members of the club met immediately after adjournment and presented Mr. George A. Grimsley, secretary of the company, and Mr. C. C. Taylor, manager of agencies, with handsome gold headed canes.

Yesterday morning Capt. Wells carried out a fishing party composed of Messrs. W. W. Sloan, R. C. Houser, G. A. Rankin, R. G. Lea, R. P. Ketchum, D. C. Ketchum, W. E. Sloan, B. A. Kluttz, and Misses Broughton, Evans and Dinkins, of Sumter. They spent several hours outside and had excellent luck.

Several of the insurance men left for their homes yesterday afternoon but most of them will remain on the beach until Monday.

Death of an Infant.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Turner will tenderly sympathize with them in the death of their infant daughter, Lois, which occurred at the family home, No. 12 Queen street, yesterday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock. The body of the child will be taken this morning on the 8:40 train to Clinton, N. C., where the interment will be made.

Do You Weigh Too Much?

The Real Remedy and the Recipe.

There are some stout people whom the above question does not seem to trouble very much. They are, however, wrong to be so careless, for obesity is a complaint which brings many evils in its train. There are others who have sought long and earnestly for a really reliable remedy for obesity, and to these the following prescription will be of absorbing interest, because it presents in a simple and harmless form and sure relief—a remedy which is rapidly gaining a world-wide reputation. The reader may make up the prescription for himself (or herself) on getting the ingredients from the druggist—or the latter will do so willingly.

This is the full recipe: 1-2 oz. Marmola, 1-2 oz. Flid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3 1-2 oz. Peppermint Water. Take a done of one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

This admirable and quite harmless remedy will soon take off pounds of the offending fatty excess; and as, day by day the weight decreases, strength and vigor will return in equal ratio; for, be it observed, there is no fasting or exercise required. Rest, good food, regular doses—these are all that is necessary to reduce weight to normal, increase the supply of pure blood, clear the skin, beautify the complexion, and restore energy and excellent spirits.

BRIGADE BOYS BREAK CAMP.

Returned to Wilmington Last Evening After Fine Outing.

Greatly refreshed in mind and body and declaring that despite the ill-treatment accorded them by the weather man, the 14th annual outing was one of the most enjoyable and successful in the history of the organization, members of the Boys' Brigade returned to the city about 7 o'clock last evening from Southport, where they have been in camp since Friday, July 15th. The boys were accompanied by Col. Walker Taylor, founder of the institution and commander, who was present throughout the encampment.

Members of the Brigade are loud in their praise of the hospitality of the Southport people and their only regret is that their stay was not longer. The boys broke camp yesterday afternoon, beginning the task of unfolding their tents and packing up other equipment of the company at 1:30 o'clock. The encampment effects of the company were stored at Southport for the 15th annual outing next year. At 4:45 P. M. the boys boarded the steamer Wilmington homeward bound, arriving here about 7 o'clock.

Holden was arrested at an early hour yesterday morning by Constable Savage and was found up a chimney.

The Democratic party surely must see now that the primary system is a farce pure and simple. Each year shows the old fool system worse and it is high time for us to sit up and take notice. If we must have a primary for offices give a legalized plan and let the convention nominate the highest man. This way of swapping horses is proving disastrous to the party and even the Republicans are laughing up their sleeves. Why not elect delegates at the precinct meetings in the old time way and let the county convention make the nominations and put out the ablest and best men. The time has come in Duplin county when the best citizens are going to raise a howl unless good and true Democrats are made our nominees. There are always good men in the party whom we can go to with appeals that will bring them out for the party's sake to fill our high and responsible offices. Let us therefore be careful in the future and the Democrats of Duplin are not bound by this farce of a primary system unless they adopt such a rotten plan. We had better take notice for more reasons than one, because there are battles to fight that are harder by far than merely running as a Democrat before the primary and at the convention. Let us make our party stronger by putting out only good men and after a while the Republican party can't even nominate a ticket. Let there be no spots upon the nominees at which the enemy can jump, but let their linen be clean and spotless and their Democracy so pure until no man within the confines of Duplin county can point to one single act to bring the blush of shame to the cheek. Until we do this we are sure to have campaigns of apologies and explanations forever, but if we stop now it is all at an end and our great party of Southern blood and brains will grow stronger and stronger until time shall be no more. Better sit up and take notice.—Eastern Carolina News, Kenansville.

What kind of a country is Germany? Over there they advertise for a mayor just like we do for a horse. Here is one of the advertisements—"The place of mayor of Magdeburg is vacant. The salary is 21,000 marks ($5,250) a year, including the rental of a dwelling in the city hall. Besides his salary the incumbent will receive 4,000 marks ($1,000) for his official expenses. Candidates should apply before September 1." In this country an ad like this would bring 7,442 applicants from every town, except Charlotte, where they have not that many people. In Germany, however, mayors are employed just as are bookkeepers, teachers and the rest. Men study to become experts in the work and one can be employed, no matter from what place he hales.—Greensboro Record.

TWO DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

Wilmington Will Entertain Tomorrow Hon. J. Hampton Moore and Congressman Small—Meeting Arranged by Chamber.

Wilmington will have the pleasure tomorrow of entertaining Hon. J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia, president of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, and Congressman John H. Small, another able advocate of waterways development, both of whom will address the business men of the city in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce at 11:30 A. M. on the important matter of coastal waterway development, telling something of what has already been accomplished and what it is hoped to achieve in the near future, setting forth also the efforts necessary to the end in view.

The distinguished visitors will receive a hearty welcome from the business men of Wilmington, who have planned to entertain them in the true Cape Fear style. They will arrive in the city Monday morning and will be met at the union station by the reception committee, recently named by the executive committee of the North Carolina Waterways Association, as follows: Messrs. J. Allen Taylor and J. A. McGeachy, president and secretary, respectively, of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Meares Harriss, secretary of the North Carolina Waterways Association. The visitors will be escorted to The Orton Hotel, where they will be greeted and welcomed by other members of the executive committee of Waterways Association, of which Mr. James H. Chadbourn is president. Other members of the committee, whose names are not given above, are Messrs. H. G. Smallbones, W. E. Worth and H. W. Malloy.

The meeting at the Chamber of Commerce at 11:30 A. M., at which the visitors make addresses will probably be attended by as many as can comfortably get within the four walls of the spacious assembly hall, for Wilmington people generally are deeply interested in the cause represented by Messrs. Small and Moore. Secretary J. A. McGeachy, of the Chamber of Commerce, has mailed circular letters to members of the organization reading as follows:

"To Members:—The president has called a meeting of the Chamber for 11:30 A. M. Monday, July 25th, to receive Hon. J. Hampton Moore, president of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, in company with Hon. John H. Small, who will address the Chamber on the subject of coastal waterways development.

"These gentlemen are pushing this matter at their personal expense and entirely through a spirit of public interest, and it is desired that every member of the Chamber be present at the hour named.

"Surveys are now being made for this canal through the Wilmington section so that the matter is now a burning issue to local interests."

At the conclusion of the addresses of Messrs. Small and Moore any others present interested in the development of the waterways project will be invited to make remarks. Capt. Earl I. Brown, U. S. A., Corps of Engineers, in charge of the Wilmington district, has been invited to be present and will probably be asked to make some remarks on the important matter as the project relates to the territory under his supervision.

The purpose of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, of which Mr. Moore is president, is to connect Maine and Florida with an inland waterway along the Atlantic coast, which would be of incalculable benefit to the entire country. The project has reached a most critical period. It is probable that within a year the United States engineers will report their recommendations to Congress relative to the waterways project. The entire route from Maine to Florida has been surveyed and it is necessary that the project be followed up promptly and secure Congressional approval and appropriations for continuing the work under contracts.

Messrs. Small and Moore will remain here through the day and will leave on the evening train. President Moore is on a visit to all the Southern points that will be reached by the proposed waterways route. It is hoped that the people generally will attend the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow.

STR. LISBON PURCHASED.

Has Been Added to Fleet of Mr. J. W. Brooks, Well Known Owner.

A bill of sale has been filed at the Custom House transferring from Capt. Ellis Sherman to Mr. J. W. Brooks, the well known wholesale grocer and successful steamboat operator of this city, the steamer Lisbon, which will be refitted from stem to stern, additional and heavier machinery installed, and put on the regular run between Wilmington and Clear Run, on Black River, making one trip each day. Mr. Brooks is also considering the advisability of making one trip a week to Elizabethtown, leaving Wilmington in the morning and returning the following day. A freight boat out of Wilmington on a morning schedule will be a great convenience to shippers along the river and they are looking forward to the inauguration of the service with much satisfaction.

Mr. Brooks some time ago purchased additional wharfage in Wilmington and it was surmised at the time that he contemplated enlarging his steamboat interests. He now has in successful operation a number of steam and sailing craft on the Lower Cape Fear and that he has turned attention to the upper Cape Fear and tributaries, means a big development for water transportation at the port.

One of the perils of our country is the lack of Bible training in our towns and cities. We are told that hundreds of thousands of children, foreign born or of foreign parents in our cities, never go to the Sabbath school, and are growing up without a knowledge of the Word. Yet what we are to be as a nation in coming years turns upon the moral forces of our towns and cities. To the truthful man the danger from this source is appalling, unless the minds of the rising generations of the cities are brought in touch with the inspired Word. Shall we rear the present generation of youth on newspapers, theatres and moving pictures, or on the Bible? and further says that he cannot help asking parents of this generation on which of these two sources of influence do they want to rear their boys and girls. Our streets are crowded with children who are going to seek either one or the other. A generation is growing up that knows nothing of the Bible. They do not recognize commonest references to it in public speech. They get nothing in its place. Yet it is the Bible that has procured our civilization. The great good men of today were reared on it. One fears very much for a generation that does not know it.—Presbyterian Standard.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Oronogo, Mo.—"I was simply a nervous wreck. I could not walk across the floor without my heart fluttering and I could not even receive a letter. Every month I had such a bearing down sensation, as if the lower parts would fall out. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done my nerves a great deal of good and has also relieved the bearing down. I recommended it to some friends and two of them have been greatly benefited by it."—Mrs. MAE MCKNIGHT, Oronogo, Mo.

Another Grateful Woman.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered terribly with a female weakness and had backache, bearing down pains and pains in lower parts. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly and used the Sanative Wash and now I have no more troubles that way."—Mrs. AL. HERZOG, 5722 Prescott Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

Look Us Up In Greensboro!

If you want to find out how a man stands you look him up in the community where he lives. Don't you? And the same thing might apply just as well to an institution. If I could induce you to come to Greensboro, see our buildings and grounds and talk with our townspeople about what we are doing—there wouldn't be much question in your mind of the standing of this Institute, I am sure.

If you can't so that—note carefully the picture above. See the spacious buildings, the broad lawns and the shady trees. For the Institute is built on one of the most famous and beautiful old estates in the South—once the home of a former governor of the State. The old mansion now modernized and enlarged into a delightful, comfortable and convenient sanitarium—with every appointment of a perfectly equipped modern hotel.

The best way to find out the kind of work we are doing is to ask any of the 6,500 men whom we have cured. I have published a few of their voluntary opinions in a book that is full of vital interest.

You can write me with the perfect assurance that your letter will be treated as confidential.

INSURGENTS ATTACK TOWNS

Revolutionists Were Repulsed—Many Wounded In Fight.

San Juan Del Sur, Nica., July 22.—The towns of Nandaime, 35 miles to the south and Camoapa, 50 miles to the east of Managua, were attacked simultaneously by the insurgents on Thursday. Each attacking force numbered about 400 men. The revolutionists were repulsed. General Valdez, the government commander at Camoapa, was seriously wounded in the fight there and only the opportune arrival of reinforcements at Nandaime saved the day for the government.

COTTON MARKET VERY NERVOUS

New Crop Months Ruled Firm and Higher on Bull Support—Opened Steady at Unchanged Prices—Excitement.

New York, July 23.—The cotton market was very nervous and irregular today with the old crop months off under a little scattering liquidation while the new crop ruled firm and higher on bull support and covering. The close was easy on near and firm on distant positions, the former being 2 to 14 points net lower and the latter 6 to 13 points net higher.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 7 points in response to higher cables, reports of a better demand for cotton goods and the continued bullish average of private crop advices notwithstanding the improvement recently noted in the weather in the Eastern belt. The bull leaders gave the new crop months support and while local professionals and Wall Street houses showed a disposition to take the short side owing to the unsettled stock market, the market for the latter deliveries was very steady. Some scattering liquidation of the old crop months sent July off to 15.70, or a net loss of 23 points and August to a net decline of about 5 points, but there was such good buying of the new crops on a scale down that after selling back to within 2 to 3 points of last night's finals they quickly rallied. Some excitement was caused in the late trading by rumors that a steamer from New Orleans with 8,000 bales of cotton for New York was on fire, and the old crop months rallied from the lowest, although the rumors were denied. The new crop continued very firm in the late trading owing to the indications for dry weather in Texas over the week-end with October contracts selling at 13.21 and December 13.06, or at a new high level for the week. The close was only a little off from the best on these deliveries. It is reported that private cables were sent to Liverpool, after the local close predicting much higher prices for the new crop if rains did not occur very soon in the Southwest.

Receipts of cotton at the ports today 7,383bales against 4,667 bales last week and 7,984 last year; for the week 45,000 bales against 56,441 last week and 18,401 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 1,464 bales against 1,966 last year, and at Houston 198 bales against 239 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet, 20 points lower; middling uplands 15.80; middling gulf 16.05; no sales.

Futures opened steady and closed easy.

THE GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, July 23.—Signs that wheat would be pouring into Chicago next week made any idea of bolstring prices today look absurd. Then too there were rains in the Canadian northwest, helping the crop situation. In consequence, the market except for a little display of firmness in the last few minutes was weak all day, and closed with a net loss of 1-8 to 3-8c to 1-2c. Corn, which received only secondary attention, finished at 1-4 to 3-4 above last night level. Oats at the wind up showed a decline of 1-4 to 3-8 to 5-8c and provisions 10 to 17 1-2 cents.

STOCK MARKET CONDITIONS

Affect of Cut in National Lead Dividend—Railroad Earnings for May Published—Stocks Receive Support on Decline.

New York, July 23.—The stock market today still reflected the disturbance of sentiment which awoke with the cut in the National Lead dividend. The significance of that action as a symptom of any general condition loses force, but as a manifestation of stock market strategy and financial policy on the part of a powerful group its ability to cause uneasiness still holds. The question of dividend maintenance was made to apply to United States Steel on account of the approach of the dividend meeting next Tuesday. That stock sold down to a new low level for the year, but received influential support on the decline.

Compilations were published of railroad earnings for May as reported to the Interstate Commerce Commission which showed for all roads reporting gains compared with May of last year of $31,983,000 or 16.25 per cent. in gross and $5,226,000 or 8.06 per cent. in net. The showing is better absolutely relatively than the April showing when the increase over the preceding year was $27,164,000 or 14 per cent. in gross and $3,578,000 or 5.31 per cent in net.

The bank statement showed a gain in actual cash holdings of upwards of $16,000,000 but with only a nominal decrease in loans. The margin of the surplus was swelled by the sum of $12,529,275 bringing it up to $45,979,600. The strong position of the New York clearing house banks thus disclosed indicate a preparedness for such extra demands to move the crops as may result from the interior banking position. Details of the controller's report arranged by banking groups shows the loan expansion of the last three months to be entirely outside the central reserve and other reserves cities and wholly by the so-called country banks. In the geographical grouping of the country banks, it is found that those in the Eastern and Southern States are responsible for considerably over half the loan increase. Another factor making for increase of confidence over the financial position is the progress made towards meeting the demands of foreign bankers for the security of cotton bills of lading. The objections growing out of the late fraudulant issues of these bills revealed by failures of cotton firms threaten to embarrass the financing of the cotton export movement, a danger believed to be averted by the arrangements now reported.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales par value $860,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call from last week. Total sales stocks for the day 425,600 shares.

COTTON MARKET YESTERDAY.

Prices Slightly Better With Moderate Demand—Bull Support.

(Special Star Telegram.)

New York, July 23.—Liverpool cables were fair, opening our market with a moderate demand at slightly better prices and with old crop months tame, but new crops higher on Wall Street buying. Old bulls supported the new positions. This feature of demand for the new positions continued through the session with little general business, sellers deterred by the strength. Trade reports are mixed, with some encouragement, the weather reports of Bradstreet's and the chronicle give word of rain in parts of Texas. The demand continued up to the close sufficient to hold prices. The stock of certificater cotton rose from 116,000 bales yesterday to 126,000.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, July 23.—The market on cotton goods was firmer during the day. Trading continues steady but of moderate volume. Staple prints and dress ginghams are being ordered more freely. Interest in men's wear and dress goods is increasing. Jobbers did a good business for the day.

FORMER CAROLINIAN.

Death of Mr. John H. Alderman of Tennessee—Family.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., July 23.—On July 2nd, at his home at Wartrace, Tenn., Mr. John Henry Alderman, a former North Carolinian, passed away in the 77th year of his age. He was a brother of Mr. James Alderman, a former Wilmingtonian, and of Mr. William Alderman, of Fayetteville, and the family has many relatives in this section who will learn with sorrw of the death of this true and worthy man. He left his native State when 20 years of age and located in Tennessee where he married Miss Mary Murphy, also of North Carolina. Of this union there were five daughters and one son, all of whom, with their mother, survive him, except one daughter, Miss Flora, who died several years ago while a missionary in China.

Mr. Oscar Clark, of Bladen, who received the nomination for Congress, is a good man and the convention could not have done better. Of course the Chief can not help wishing that the honor had fallen upon our home man, Major McKinnon, but it will most cheerfully support the nominee for his own worth. He was a member of the last State Senate. He was prepared for college by the late Prof. Quackenbush, at Laurinburg, and graduated at Davidson College. He has been a successful farmer and business man throughout his career. He is responsible for the Drainage Act passed by the last Legislature, which several districts are taking advantage of and which will bring added prosperity to the farmers of eastern North Carolina. Let us all hurrah! for Clark. —Maxton Scottish Chief.

In view of the bad character that has recently been fastened upon the fly the man who is referred to by his friends as one who "wouldn't harm a fly," is finding it difficult to retain public esteem.—Charlotte Chronicle.

MOTHER GOOSE.

That Was Her Real Name According to Authority.

That was her real name, and not a fictitious one, as many people believe. Elizabeth Foster was born in Charlestown, Mass., a town near Boston, in 1665.

Her family being Puritans, she was reared as other little maidens then were "to be industrious." She was also taught to cook and sew and spin. On Sundays she went to the meeting house and sat demurely quiet through the long sermon, and on week days went to the free school and learned to read, write and count.

Little Elizabeth was, nevertheless, a mirth-loving child and greatly beloved by her playmates. Some of her rhymes are sly little jokes. You remember she tells us that

"Dr. Foster went to Gloucester
In a shower of rain;
He stepped in a puddle
Up to his middle,
And he never went that way again."

Dr. Foster was evidently some member of her family, her uncle, perhaps, whom the saucy Elizabeth was poking fun at.

History does not tell us how early she began to produce her little rhymes.

At the age of 27 she was wooed by a widower named Isaac Goose, who had ten little motherless goslings.

Her family, and indeed Elizabeth herself, opposed the match, but at length her kind heart was softened by the pitiful plight of Father Goose and his little goslings, and she finally married him.

Then six children of her own were added to the number, making sixteen in all.

No wonder poor Mother Goose tells us that "she had so many children she did not know what to do."

She probably sung them to sleep at night to "Rock-a-bye, baby, on the tree top," or to "Bye-o-baby bunting father's gone a-hunting," and on wash days they merrily rubbed to "Rub-a-dub-dub, three maids in a tub."

When Joshua and Gilfillian took the pails and went to the top of the hill behind the house for water and disaster befell them, she probably made the laugh, even while the tears stood in their eyes and they were being plastered up with vinegar and brown paper, by singing "Jack and Jill went up the hill."

She also put into rhymes the tragedies that occurred in the neighborhood, telling of the children that were drowned, "Sliding on the ice, upon a Summer's day," and about the poor pussy that the naughty Johnny Green put in the well.

But finally the flock were all scattered. Father Goose departed this life and poor Mother Goose was left all alone. Then her favorite daughter, Elizabeth, who had married Thomas Fleet, a printer, prevailed upon her to make her home henceforth with them, and to this fortunate circumstance we owe it, that thousands of children all over this land have been made happy by her simple little jingles.

Dear, merry Grandmother Goose thus came to live among another flock of little ones in Pudding Lane, Boston.

Thomas Fleet had a printing office of his own, and to his wise head came the thought that if his own children were so pleased by his mother-in-law's fun, why might not others be also? So he began to write down her jingles whenever he got a chance to do so, following her about the house and even asking for more, as the children did.

One day Mr. Fleet laid before Mother Goose's amused and astonished eyes the first volume of the now famous book. How she laughed when she turned to the title page and found pictured thereon a goose with its mouth wide open? It bore this title: "Songs for the Nursery, or, Mother Goose's Melodies for Children, Printed by T. Fleet at His Printing House, Pudding Lane, 1719. Price, two coppers." Her historian tells us that for 38 years she lived to add new rhymes to each new edition, and died in 1757, at the age of 92, her name a household word, dear to children; her memory blessed by mothers in many lands."—Clara A. Williams in Our Companion.

LIVE STOCK SHOW.

Held at Union Stock Yards Near St. Paul in November.

St. Paul, Minn., July 23.—According to plans made for the Northwestern Live Stock show to be held at Union Stock Yards, South St. Paul, November 15th to 18th, aristocratic cattle will not find their names on the list of those who are invited, just because the blue blood of ancestry runs in their veins. The proud Angus, Holstein, Durham, Hereford or representative of any other breed whose chief qualification is a pedigree which would fill a volume of the Congressional Record, will find himself lined up by the side of other animals whose claim to distinction is simply beef—good, wholesome, juicy, tender beef. And prizes will be awarded only those which show the "beefiest" qualifications.

The Northwestern exhibit will include market animals only. True, there will be plenty of animals shown, which might be given pedigrees, but such statistics will not be taken into consideration by the men who do the judging. It will be one time when plebian cattle will enter a contest of merits on the same ground as cattle of the aristocracy. Many cases are on record where un-pedigreed cattle have shown up better than cattle whose owners boast of long pedigrees which go with them. At the Northwestern exhibit, the heifer called "Maiden Lane, XIX," or "Queen Helen, X," will have no better rating than will just "Maude" or "Middy." And on the other hand, "King Leopold IV," will be on the same footing as "Big Tom" or just "Jim." There will be nothing in the name.

When the show has ended many of the cattle will be sold on the market, which means they will be sold rigat where they are, as the event takes place on the Union Stock Yard ground. In this way, stock growers will learn much about what animals are best for slaughter purposes. An auction sale will also be held the last day of the show, at which all the stock exhibited may be offered for sale. This feature last year attracted much interest and caused many extra "shekels" to go into the coffers of the men who know how to produce good market cattle.

RAWN DEATH MYSTERY.

Detectives Believe It a Case of Suicide —Investigation Held.

Chicago, July 23.—The results of a secret investigation of the death of Ira G. Rawn, president of the Monon route, last Wednesday morning, made within a few hours after his death occurred as the result of a bullet wound, became known today. The investigation was made by a private detective agency which had been employed in the Illinois Central investigations, and two men are said to have made a careful examination of the premises and the servants without making themselves known.

There were four servants sleeping in the house the night of the death, according to the report of the detectives. Of these, three sleep on the second floor, above the room where the shooting took place. None of these heard any sounds until the death of Mr. Rawn was known to his family.

Johanna Solberg, a maid servant, who slept on the third floor said she was awakened at 1:30 o'clock Friday morning and that she heard one shot fired. The two detectives asserted the alleged "jimmy" marks on the forced door of the Rawn home, which the intruder was supposed to have made while gaining an entrance, were on the inside of the door.

William C. Brown, president of the New York Central Lines, who reached here late today, in discussing the death of Mr. Rawn said:

"Ira G. Rawn was a fearless man and one who would not take his own life to avoid personal danger or trouble. I have known him since boyhood."

BRAGG WINS DARING RACE.

Amateur Driver Takes Honors at Brighton Beach.

Brighton Beach, July 23.—C. S. Bragg, the amateur driver, who has defeated Barney Oldfield, won by sheer grit today one of the most daring automobile races ever seen at Brighton Beach.

In the sixth event of the programme, a five-mile event, open to amateurs only, Bragg, driving his own Fiat, skidded on the turn into the home stretch, slued on his power when he found he was still on four wheels, broke his way through the fence to the track again, and then, by furious driving, regained all of his lost distance and finished first in the phenomenally fast time of four minutes, 46 3-5 seconds.

Ralph DePalma and George Robertson, old time rivals, fought it out against, the first in a Fiat, the second in a Simplex. DePalma won the ten mile event handily, allowing Robertson to pass him, and then putting on more power when it was needed. But in the ten miles special match Robertson took his revenge in straight heats the first at five miles, the second at two.

AEROPLANE USELESS IN WAR

Rear Admiral Swinburne Gives Opinion on the Subject.

Washington, July 23.—Rear Admiral W. T. Swinburne, U. S. N., retired, who returned from a trip abroad today is not one of those who believe in the present possibilities of the aeroplane as an instrument of war.

"The aeroplane," he said tonight "must attain a development advanced 5,000 times beyond anything it has demonstrated yet, before it can figure against navies.

"A navy can destroy another navy or attack harbor fortifications from a distance of 20 or 30 miles—too far out at sea for an aeroplane to venture.

"Again, the aeroplane, .. it wishes to drop bombs on a warship, must rise too high to be sure of accuracy, for otherwise it can easily be crippled by marksmen aboard ship. At a height where the aviator would be safe intervening air currents was deflect explosives he migh drop."

Norfolk, Va., July 23.—Norfolk made a clean sweep of the opening match of the inter-city tennis league with Baltimore today, scoring 12 points to nothing for Baltimore. Altogether 26 sets were played and Norfolk lost only two, one in the singles and one in the doubles.

HETTIE GREEN'S SON HOME.

Comes Back From Texas to Live With His Mother.

New York, July 23.—Col. Edward H. R. Green, Hettie Green's son, is back from Texas to make his home henceforth with his mother. He isn't sure whether that will mean New York or Chicago.

"I still think Texas has the greatest future of any of the States," said Col. Green today. "I left a great many friends down in Dallas and admit that I did not tell all of them good bye for you see I expect to drop in on them some of these days. You can't transplant a tree of my weight overnight. (Col. Green weighs 250 odd pounds) and I've lived in Texas a good many years.

"I am here to be of aid to my mother. If she wishes me to make my home here I shall do so, but mother has interests worth between $12,000,000 and $18,000,000 in Chicago, and I don't know but what I am more needed there.

"We'll decide that in due time," put in Mrs. Green with an enigmatical twinkle in her eye. "For the present I am glad to have my son home."

HIBERNIANS END SESSIONS.

Conclude With Almost All Night Meeting—Chicago Next Year.

Portland, Ore., July 23.—The convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, which has been in session in Portland since Tuesday, adjourned early today after almost an all night session in which Chicago was chosen for the next convention in 1912.

An amalgamation of the two branches of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Ireland, the United Irish League and the Clan-Na-Gael, with the Ancient Order of Hibernians in the United States and a coalition with the various allied German societies to the end that Ireland shall be freed from English rule and given the status of an independent race among the world of nations, is the principle underlying a resolution adopted today.

The resolution adopted urged "greater harmony," between the two branches of the order in Ireland, but the national officers were empowered to meet the officers of the various organizations mentioned and discuss with them and adopt plans.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

Gratifying Report by Secretary Middleton—Five Years' Growth.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 23.—State Secretary E. L. Middleton, of the North Carolina Baptist Sunday School Association, estimates that the gain in numbers of Baptist Sunday Schools in the State for the past five years has been at least 40 per cent. The gain in membership, he finds, has been just 49,000. There are 70 per cent. more of the rural Sunday Schools keeping open through the Winter than was the case five years ago. Another remarkably healthy indication is the fact that the contributions by the Sunday Schools for the purposes of the convention have increased 200 per cent, within five years. He finds that there have been formed within the past three months not less than 80 new Baptist Sunday Schools in various sections of the State.

HARRIMAN'S FORTUNE.

Railroad Magnate Was Worth $71,000,000 When He Died.

New York, July 23.—Edward H. Harriman, was worth $71,000,000 at the time of his death. The records of the State comptroller's office, into which inheritance taxes are paid, show, as made public today, that Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, who has acted as Mrs. Harriman's adviser since her husband's death, paid on March 5th last, $675,000 as the amount to which the estate was entitled under the transfer tax law. A little arithmetic shows to those familiar with the law that the estate on which his tax was paid was valued at $71,053,737.

CLOUDBURST PROVES FATAL.

Two Known to be Dead With Six Persons Missing.

Bisbee, Ariz., July 23.—A cloudburst resulting in a great flood struck Bisbee last evening. Two persons, Mrs. John Baker and Daniel Murphy were drowned near here and six persons are missing.

Many houses were demolished, store basements flooded and street traffic was tied up by the debris. The damage was more than $150,000.

Bisbee was cut off from outside communication, the city was in darkness last night and today there is no water even for domestic purposes, the mains being washed out.

HAD SHORT COURTSHIP.

Charlotte Girl One of the Principals in Washington Marriage.

Washington, July 23.—Starting after midnight in search of a minister to marry them, Miss Rena Gilmer Jewell, aged 18, of Charlotte, N. C., and Arthur D. Thomas, aged 26, of this city, found the parson at Rockville, Md., a popular gretna green only a few miles from the National capital. It was about 2 o'clock this morning when the ceremony took place. The young couple had met only about 24 hours before. Miss Jewell came here on Thursday with her mother on a visit to relatives.

VICTORY FOR "INSURGENTS."

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 23.—The Chatham county Republican convention today instructed delegates to the State convention to support Congressman Motley Morehead for State chairman. This is a victory for the "insurgents."

IMMIGRANTS WERE ROBBED

Robbers Worked Hold-Up Game and Secured $500.

New York, July 23.—Within sight of the lights of Manhattan, four men held up a coach load of immigrants tonight, at the point of the pistol, and robbed them of perhaps $500 in cash, while their train was still standing in the West Shore Terminal at Weehawken N. J. A cry of "police" gave the gang warning, who were able to mingle with the crowd and lose their identities. The lookout was felled by the night stick of a patrolman and is now locked up.

There were perhaps a hundred immigrants in the car. The order for "all aboard" had been given and many had their hands outside the windows waving good bye to friends when two men stepped on the rear end of the last car of the train and two on the front platform. All four whipped out revolvers and shouted 'hand up", "shell out."

Most of the immigrants did not understand the language, but the revolvers were wholly intelligible. The four men walked down the middle aisle of the car from either end, taking jewelry and cash. They might have got more if a trainman had not stepped to the rear platform and taken in the situation at a glance. He ran to the station yelling to the police.

But the robbers had been warned by their outlook and bolted for the waiting room where a thousand persons from the ferries were waiting for other trains.

The lookout, who was arrested, refused to give his name or tell anything about himself.

AFFAIRS AT RALEIGH.

Club House for Guard—Oil Inspection. Maj. London Better.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 23.—It is learned that there is a movement on foot among the officers of the North Carolina National Guard to form a social club and maintain a suitable club house at Camp Glenn, Morehead. It is understood that they have available a splendid location for a club building and the club house could be maintained in a most satisfactory shape during the encampments, whether they are held by regiments or by the whole guard at once.

The oil committee of the State Board of Agriculture is called to meet July 28th, to adopt a proposed new standard for illuminating oils offered for sale in this State under the illuminating oil inspection act of the last Legislature. The proposed new standard requires not more than 6 per cent. residium remaining undistilled at 300 degrees centigrade (572 degrees Fahrenheit). This is not to apply to certain fresh oils, such as miner's, mineral seal, signal and some other oils. The oil committee is composed of K. W. Barnes, Lucama; Ashley Horne, Clayton; A. T. McCallum, Red Springs.

Friends throughout the State will be glad to learn that Maj. H. A. London, of Pittsboro, has about recovered from his desperate illness and that his brother, Col. W. L. London, who underwent a difficult and dangerous operation her for intestinal obstruction has sufficiently recovered to be taken to his home in Pittsboro.

GIVES TEDDY A CHANCE.

Harmon Wants the Colonel to Take Aero Flight.

New York, July 23.—When Theodore Roosevelt had a chance to dive below the sea in a submarine he jumped at it, now he has an invitation to skim the earth in an aeroplane.

Clifford Harmon, the wealthy amateur who makes daily practice flights at Mineola, L. I., said tonight that Mr. Roosevelt is expected at Mineola on August 19th to lay a cornerstone that it was generally understood he would motor to Hempstead Heath to watch the flying and that he was sure of an invitation to go up, if he wished to try the sensation.

"Nothing would please me better," added Harmon, "than to give the Colonel his first ride in an aeroplane, and if he comes here I hope I shall be able to induce him to let me take him up."

PISTOL DUEL AT CLINTON.

Cal Furr Was Killed and West Gregory Injured.

Laurens, S. C., July 23.—As the result of a pistol duel on the streets of Clinton, S. C., this afternoon at 1:40 between Cal Furr and West Gregory, two cotton mill operatives, Furr was killed and Gregory was shot in the hand. Eleven shots were fired, seven of which took effect in Furr's body.

Gregory was immediately arrested by Chief of Police Reid, of Clinton, who started with his prisoner to Laurens and was met by Sheriff John D. Owings, who took charge of the prisoner and brought him to Laurens, where he is lodged in jail. It is understood that the trouble was brought about as the result of domestic troubles.

INJURED MAY RECOVER.

Those Who Were Hurt in Fatal Gunning Accident.

Fortress Monroe, Va., July 23.—All the men who suffered injuries in the explosion of the big gun during the recent target practice here and which resulted in the death of eleven of their comrades are reported doing well. Lieut. Van Duesen, who sustained a broken leg and other injuries is making rapid progress toward complete recovery, it was said today. Col. C. H. Townsley, commandant of the fort, tonight denied a report that he had presented the survivors of the disaster with certificates of commendation and the thanks of the War Department for their gallantry. This it is not probable, will be done when the board of inquiry, now at work, makes a complete report.

RECLAMATION OF LAND IN VICINITY OF DENVER

(By Arvine W. Sowers.)

Denver, Colo., July 23.—Water rules the destiny of Colorado.

More precious than the gold and silver of the hills is the huge mantle of snow that envelops the lofty mountain peaks and the mammoth range that stretches across the full length of the State. Here lies the source of a perpetual supply of water for the millions of fertile acres on the plains, in the beautiful valleys and on the mesas of the State.

Denver, the capital city of Colorado, with a population of 212,000, stands at the base of the Rocky Mountains, 12 miles east of the foothills. From the city a view of the snowy range is had for a distance of 200 miles north and south. Denver is called the "Queen City of the Plains," but she has also the distinction of being the metropolis of the Rocky Mountain region. In her markets the heavy-booted miner of the hills rubs elbows with the sun-tanned toiler of the irrigated field of the plains and the valleys.

No other city on the American continent is situated like Denver. This city is the Babylon of the New World. Like that ancient capital of a past and buried empire, Denver sprang from the sands of an arid waste made fertile by the magic of irrigation. Time and neglect have given Babylon back to the desert, and buried her great canals and reservoirs beneath the sands. Out here in the eternal sunshine, breathing the pure air of the Rockies, Denver is gradually ascending to a pinnacle of glory that will outshine the splendor of that ancient capital of Mesopotamia—a lasting tribute to the achievement of man, who saw the sand glistening at his feet at the end of his journey across the plains in his quest for gold, and whose vision, stretching away to the distant mountain range, saw the glistening of the snow banks in the Summer sun, and comprehended.

The lure of the yellow metal dazzled the eyes of the majority in those early days, but the possibilities of the soil became a conviction in the minds of a few, and irrigation soon became a potent factor in the work of supplying the people of the new territory with food.

Today immense irrigation enterprises, with gigantic storage reservoirs, are being constructed at the very portals of Denver. When they are completed the entire country within a radius of at least 25 miles of the city will be amply supplied with water for irrigation purposes. Some of this land is watered from these projects now, and the entire work is being rushed to completion as rapidly as it can be accomplished by the combined efforts of men, machinery and money.

Two hundred thousand acres, at the very least calculation, adjacent to Denver will be watered by these new irrigation enterprises. Nearly all of this acreage will be devoted to the raising of small fruits and the growing of garden truck. It is estimated, however, that the combined capacity of these immense reservoirs will be sufficient to irrigate nearly 300,000 acres, but this is a matter for the future to determine.

With the exception of the narrow strip of land lying between Denver and the foothills, devoted mainly to truck gardening and to the raising of small fruits, the country surrounding the city has been inadequately supplied with water for irrigation. In certain sections some of the land has been sufficiently watered, but the chief general difficulty has been the lack of water in the latter part of the growing season. Consequently, crops that promised large returns early in the season proved a disappointment at harvest time.

These conditions have prevailed notwithstanding the fact that each year enough flood water rolled down from the mountain streams into the South Platte river to irrigate the entire eastern part of Colorado if it were stored in reservoirs, to be used when required. Except what flowed into the irrigation ditches to be used in the early part of the growing season, this water has gone to waste. In the meantime the major portion of the vast acreage of rich land immediately adjacent to Denver was forced to lie idle.

About three years ago the work of impounding these flood waters was begun by two immense enterprises, and approximately $8,000,000 is being spent in the construction of five large reservoirs, which have a combined capacity at present of 245,700 acre feet of water. Nearly 400 miles of main canals will be required to distribute this water. One of these projects, which includes four of the reservoirs, will supply the lands lying north and northeast of the city, and eventually will reenforce the water supply in part of the northern Colorado district. The second enterprise will supply the lands lying south, southeast and east of the city, reinforcing the old Highline canal. Both of these systems will eventually pass into the hands of the farmers owning the land which they water.

The first project will impound the flood waters from no less than half a dozen streams that in floor season roll out of the mountains northwest and north of Denver in raging torrents.

The second dams the South fork of the South Platte river back in the mountains 100 miles from Denver, and also drains a wide area of mountain country directly tributary.

Both of these enterprises are supplying water for part of their lands this season; therefore it will be seen that they have passed the experimental stage and are "making good." The final completion of the main reservoirs, the main canals and the lateral ditches will require at least three years more.

Comparatively few people throughout the East and South know that Colorado is greater in agriculture and horticulture than in mining. The value of the products of the soil in the State in 1909 was more than $100,000,000, while the total output of the metal mines was approximately $33,000,000. Of this latter sum $22,000,000 was in gold; therefore the value of the agricultural and horticultural output of Colorado last year was more than four times as great as the value of the gold output. And Colorado is the leading gold-producing State of Americt!

But let us return to Denver. The fact is not generally known that celery, beets, turnips, onions, lettuce, strawberries, raspberries, currants and other vegetables and small fruits yield abundantly in the soil of Denver and vicinity, and in quality are not surpassed anywhere. In the suburbs of Denver truck gardening is carried on extensively.

These facts are mentioned merely to show the reason for the construction of immense irrigation works that begin almost within the city limits. The whole surrounding country is capable of being converted into a garden spot, and that is what is being done as quickly as possible.

Irrigation is a science. It does not consist of merely diverting water from rivers and creeks to the cultivated fields in a haphazard manner. Grades and levels must be taken into consideration, and canals and lateral ditches built with exact measurements. And most important of all is the economic and intelligent application of water to the soil.

These principles are being observed in the construction and operation of Chicago, July 23.—Chicago is to be the scene this year of the 32nd annual tournament of the National Archery Association of the United States, which is scheduled for August 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th. Morning and afternoon sessions will be held, the events, both scratch and handicap, being provided for in equal numbers for women and men. The opening day, Tuesday, August 16th, will be the big day of the meeting, three rounds and three men's rounds at various distances being down for decision. The annual business meeting will be held Thursday, August 18th, at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Vendome Hotel. On Friday morning, August 19th, the tournament will be wound up with a luncheon and the awarding of prizes in the Chicago Archers' refectory. A number of prominent English society members have promised to attend the meet. Mrs. Elton Lee, the winner of many English prizes, will be among the fair shooters.

THE NEW BUREAU OF MINES

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., July 23.—The act establishing a Bureau of Mines in the Department of the Interior, approved May 16, 1910, became effective July 1. As originally approved, the law contemplated the transfer of the entire Technologic Branch of the United States Geological Survey, the mine accident investigations, fuel investigations, structural materials investigations, the entire personnel, property and equipment, to the Bureau of Mines, but the Sundry Civil appropriation act approved June 25, amended the law to such an extent that the structural materials investigations, including the personnel and equipment for these investigations went to the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce and Labor.

Carrying out the spirit and intent of the law so amended, the Secretary of the Interior has transferred to the Bureau of Mines the investigation of mine accidents and fuels, together with the personnel and equipment of these investigations and has transferred to the Bureau of Standards the structural materials investigations and the employes of the Technologic Branch of the Survey engaged in these investigations. The fully equipped testing station at Pittsburg also goes to the Bureau of Mines.

The Bureau of Mines therefore, includes the mine accidents and fuel investigations for which an appropriation of $410,000 was made by Congress. The total appropriations for the bureau, including salaries, rent and expenses of removal amount to $502,200.

The work of the Bureau of Mines for the first year will be a continuation and expansion of the work carried on by the Technologic branch of the Geological survey. The law in itself provides for a variety of other problems that properly belong to the Bureau of Mines and which should eventually be undertaken, such as methods of mining and metallurgical processes, but these activities will be deferred for the most part until Congress gives additional authorization in the shape of adequate appropriations. The spirit of the debates in Congress both on the Bureau of Mines legislation and on the appropriation items emphasized the desire to regard the mine accidents investigations as urgent and this will be the feature of the work.

In all, $310,000 was appropriated for mine accident investigations. Of this sum under the general plans approved by the Secretary of the Interior, $120,000 is to be spent on the rescue stations, $36,000 for housing nine stations; $34,000 for equipping eight new stations; and $10,000 for additional equipment for five existing stations. The allotment for the investigation of mining, $14,000; appliances for preventing mine accidents, $8,000; examination and codification of mining laws, $5,000; and other technologic investigations, ore treatment, etc., $10,000. For the analyzing and testing of the coals, lignites, ores and other mineral fuel substances belonging to or for the use of the United States, $100,000 was appropriated. Of this amount, $35,000 will be spent in the chemical and physical investigation of fuels; $25,000 in the inspection of government fuel purchase; $22,000 in fuel efficiency investigations; $5,000 in lignite and peat investigations; and $4,000 in briquetting investigations.

The mine accident investigations, which have been transferred from the Geological Survey to the Bureau of Mines were first authorized in the legislative appropriation act of May 22, 1908, carrying for this purpose an appropriation of $150,000. This was followed by a similar appropriation carried in the act for the sundry civil expenses of the government for 1910. A mine experiment station was established in Pittsburg during 1908, at which, since that time, investigations of explosives, coal gas, dust, electricity and other possible causes of mine explosions have been continually under way. The mining engineering field force of the Geological Survey has already made decided progress in the study of underground mining conditions and methods. Practically all of the coal mines in which mine explosions have occurred during the last two years have been carefully examined, the gases, coke and dust have been analyzed at the laboratory at Pittsburg and every effort has been made to determine the explosibility of various mixtures of gas and air in the presence of shots of different types of explosives. Considebale progress has also been made in the investigation of explosives used in coal mining, and the conditions under which they may be used with least risk. Manufacturers have submitted many explosives for test at the station and a considerable portion of them passed and have been classified among the permissible explosives. The investigations and educational work in connection with the use of artificial breathing and other types of mine rescue equipment, the so-called oxygen helmets, have not only been useful in developing a more satisfactory use of such equipment in the examination of mine explosions, but also better methods for using this equipment in mine rescue work.

The fuel investigations under the Geological Survey and which are transferred to the Bureau of Mines have already resulted in a better realization throughout the country as to the value of fuels. One result of this work is that nearly all of the fuel now purchased by the Federal government is bought on specifications and subject to test by the fuel division, or purchased after examination made of the coal supplied by the mines from which coal is delivered to the government.

The publications of the survey relating to mine and fuel investigations, those prepared by the technologic branch, will in the future be distributed by the Bureau of Mines. The publications relating to structural materials will continue to be distributed by the Geological Survey. The last of the bulletins of the technologic branch to be published by the survey will be issued from the government printing office about August 1st. This bulletin relates to the explosibility of coal dust and was prepared by G. S. Rice, with chapters by J. C. Frazer, Axel Larsen, Frank Haas, and Carl Scholz.

The first Bureau of Mines bulletins, the Volatile Matter of Coal, by H. C. Porter and F. K. Ovitz, will be published in the next few months. Then will follow, Coal Analyses, by N. W. Lord and J. S. Burrows; Final Data Regarding Steam Tests, by L. P. Breckenridge; North Dakota Lignite as a Boiler Fuel, by D. T. Randall and Henry Kreisinger; Producer-gas Tests in 1905-1907, by R. H. Fernald; The Coke Industry as Related to the Foundry, by Richard Moldenke; Coals for Illuminating Gas, by A. H. White and Perry Barker; and Petroleum for Combustion Under Steam Boilers, by I. C. Allen.

OIL IN CALIFORNIA.

Fields on Pacific Coast Practically in Their Infancy.

San Francisco, Cal., July 23.—California undoubtedly will, within a few years, be called upon to supply not only the United States, but practically the whole North American continent with illuminating, lubricating and fuel oils.

A study of the petroleum industry of the United States shows that the California oil fields are practically in their infancy, with production increasing by leaps and bounds, while the proved oil bearing area is being augmented daily. The oil fields of other sections of the country have reached their maximum production and are on the decline, leaving California in a class by itself as a producer of the inflammable fluid.

The total proved petroleum territory of California, according to the United States Geological Survey, is 850 square miles, or a total of slightly more than 500,000 acres. This area would accommodate something like 120,000 wells, allowing one well to each 2 1-2 acres.

Large as this territory may seem, it is less than half the area proved to be productive in Pennsylvania, that State having nearly 2,000 square miles of oil lands. But the thickness of the oil-bearing stratum in California far exceeds that of other fields in the United States, there being, by actual measurement, over 500 feet of oil sands in several different sections of the State, whereas in many localities in the Eastern fields the oil bearing stratum is only a few feet thick. On account of these dense sands California will be producing oil when Eastern fields are only a memory.

The Pennsylvania oil fields, which are the oldest in the United States, reached their maximum productiveness many years ago and have steadily declined, until now they are yielding about one-third of the amount produced at the height of their development. Geologists estimate that only about two billion barrels remain in the ground in that State, while in the proved fields of California, government geologists estimate the supply in the ground at eight and one-half billion barrels, without taking into account new fields that undoubtedly will be discovered in this State.

The Ohio-Indiana fields which rank next in importance to Pennsylvania, have an area of 2,040 square miles and the supply in the ground is placed at three billion barrels. In Texas and Louisiana the fields have an area of not more than 360 square miles, only a small proportion of which now are to be considered highly productive.

Taking these facts into consideration, it will be readily seen that California will, a comparatively few years hence, be depended upon to supply the United States with illuminating, lubricating and fuel oils.

IN THE GREAT WEST.

Stock Market Growing at Rate of a Million a Month.

St. Paul, Minn., July 23.—A gain of $6,000,000 in the amount paid to the farmers of the Northwest by meat packers and other buyers of live stock at South St. Paul is indicated by the figures of the Packingtown banks clearings for the first six months of the present year, made public yesterday. From January to July 1910, the total was $24,340,969.25, while $18,342,401.73 was the total for the same period in the past year.

While part of the gain in banking operations is to be attributed to the growth of South St. Paul, President J. J. Flanagan, of the Stock Yards National Bank, ascribes by far the greater portion of the increase to the enlarged operations of the market and the higher prices that packers have paid for stock purchased from the farmers. The average gain of a million dollars a month at the South St. Paul yards reflects the growing magnitude of the live stock industry in the Northwest, and also that of the local market.

It further indicates that farmers in general are engaging more extensively in live stock raising because of the increased profits and that confidence in the business has been restored since the 1907 season and is now more firmly fixed among Northwestern farmers.

President Flanagan said yesterday that he places no confidence in the reports that have come from some sources that the Fall business at the stock yards will be materially affected by the heavy marketing of stock during June, caused by the drying up of pastures. He cited similar forecasts made about this time last year with regard to the 1909 run and pointed out that the predicted falling-off in business failed to materialize, but that, on the other hand, all previous records for expenditures for live stock at South St. Paul for corresponding periods were shattered.

Prices received by farmers for hogs during the six months' period just closed were by far the highest ever paid during so extended a period of time and account in large measure for the $6,000,000 gain. In spite of the fact that receipts of hogs during the first six months this year were only 373,458 compared with 438,876 last year, a loss of nearly 15 per cent., packers have paid more money for hogs than during the same time in 1909.

Cattle prices have not undergone the sharp changes which have been apparent in the swine trade, and at present are on a very satisfactory Summer level from the standpoint of the stockman.

Values of sheep and lambs, which have but recently worked to a low level because of heavy runs at all markets of the country, have been high during the greater part of the first half of this year and packers have paid record breaking prices for this stock also. Receipts increased about 8 per cent. over last year.

the two big irrigation enterprises at Denver. The first step, of course, is the building of reservoirs of sufficient capacity to store the water to irrigate the acreage embraced by the system. Feeding canals must be built to carry the water from the main stream into the reservoirs, and then the main canals for distributing the water over the district must be constructed. High lands must be watered as well as low lands; therefore exceptional engineering skill is required in running the water to the high lands.

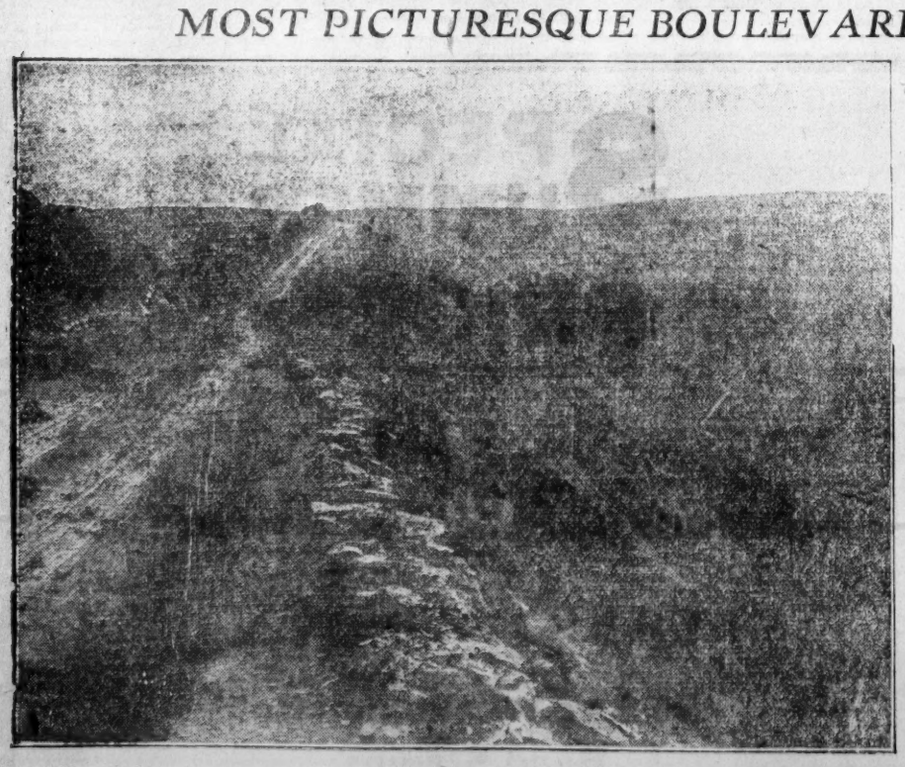
Farmers in old settled communities where water for their crops is supplied by rain, are unable to understand how agriculture can be made to pay in a country where such huge sums of money must be expended to obtain water; but the very fact that this money is being expended should dispel all doubts. As a matter of fact, the lands of Colorado that have been placed under irrigation yield such abundant harvests that the figures will not be believed except by those who see with their own eyes. Irrigation not only pays, but a crop failure is unknown in an irrigated district where the water supply is ample.

The fertility of Colorado's soil is the wonder of the world. Slowly, but surely, every available acre of arable land is being reclaimed, and Denver is the center of this great activity.

In the mountains the miner is drilling deep into the rocks in his quest for the yellow metal that lured the white man from the confines of civilization 50 years ago. The wealth of the hills is still increasing, and the government mint at Denver is busy coining Colorado gold and silver bullion into good, hard United States coin; but the grand old mountains can not keep pace with the plains, the mesas and the valleys in the production of wealth in Colorado.

Great in gold, great in silver, is Colorado, but greater still is this State in the products of the soil. Up here on the backbone of the continent a new empire is building that is destined to be the storehouse and the treasure vault of the Nation.

SKY LINE DRIVE, CANON CITY, COL. MOST PICTURESQUE BOULEVARD



Denver, Colo., July 23.—Although confined in the Colorado penitentiary for a long term because he killed his son-in-law in a family quarrel, Capt. Thomas H. Edwards, a civil engineer of note who served in the Royal Engineers of the British Army, used his fine talents for the benefit of the State that held him prisoner.

On the morning of June 20th, when Edwards walked from the prison a free man, he had served just seven and seven-twelfths of his fifteen year sentence, having practically cut his term of servitude in half with credits for special services as a trusty, and for good behavior.

Canon City, the penitentiary town, has a kindly feeling for this old man who is facing the world again at the age of 64 years. He planned and laid out the City Park, designed several prison buildings, besides platting and surveying all of the penitentiary property. But the greatest monument he has left behind him, which is the pride of Canon City, is the Sky Line Drive, one of the most beautiful boulevards in the world. This, as well as the other work superintended by Edwards, was built by convict labor. Over his fellow convicts he exerted a remarkable influence, and it is said that not one attempt at escape was made by prisoners working on the scenic highway.

The Sky Line Drive begins at Canon City, which is situated at the edge of the mountains in the upper part of the Arkansas Valley, and ascends to the top of a ridge which overlooks the beautiful valley. The boulevard is wide and smooth and the scenery sublime. No boulevard in the Swiss Alps reveals more rugged grandeur. This stretch of roadway has been the inspiration that has stimulated the construction of mountain boulevards throughout the entire State of Colorado. Within a very few years Colorado will have more miles of mountain boulevards than any country in the world. Already the State leads her sister States in this respect.

Canon City's famous boulevard is about thirty feet wide. It lies along the top of the limestone ridge that in places reaches an elevation of 800 feet above the valley that spreads below on both sides. These ridges are characteristic of this section of Colorado and are commonly called hog-backs. In the distance are the high mountains of the Rocky Mountain range.

This particular hog-back runs west and north of the city, the top forming a long sky-line, hence the appellation of the boulevard. Owing to the clear Colorado atmosphere, people along the drive can be seen distinctly from a distance of seven miles. The view from the road is magnificent. As the traveler rolls along the smooth surface in an automobile, now ascending gradual inclines and then descending gentle slopes, the panorama is constantly changing, each new view unfolding a picture that only the rare genius of Nature can portray.

What were the conflicting emotions that raged within the heart of Capt. Edwards during the days he was superintending the construction of this beautiful stretch of roadway? With the consciousness of his unfortunate position ever with him, was the daily sight of Nature's grandeur balm to his tortured soul, or was it gall and wormwood?

Whatever were his emotions and thoughts, this man, whose identity was lost in a convict's number, worked in silence. Suffer he undoubtedly did, but he suffered alone and won the admiration and respect of his keepers by his perfect demeanor and steadfast application to his task. He repaid the State many fold for the cost of his keep with the exertions of his talented brain by day, and paid his humiliating debt to society behind the steel bars of his prison cell at night. His fate presents a fine example of the tenacity of character under adverse environments.

Edwards steadfastly maintained from the first that he killed his son-in-law in self-defense. The two quarreled after the elder man's daughter had complained to her father that her husband had ill-treated her. It is said that each man threatened the other. The dispute took place at the home of Edwards. Peter Galloway, the son-in-law, ordered his wife to return home, and, according to the story told at the trial, threatened Edwards if he interferred. The younger man was armed.

When husband and wife had left his house Edwards procured a revolver and followed them, as he explained, to protect his daughter. Shortly afterwards Galloway lay dead in his own door-yard. The father-in-law said he shot while Galloway was aiming his revolver. However, a jury found him guilty of murder and he has paid the penalty for his act.

Capt. Edwards served with the British army in India, China and Africa. He was with General (Chinese) Gordon in India, and was present at the capture of Khartoum, where he lost an arm. Finally he settled in the United States and became a naturalized citizen.

Then his fate overtook him and he became a number in the Colorado penitentiary. Today he is a free man once more. He made good in prison even as he did in the service of his native land.

DISEASES BREED IN MOUTH

The address of welcome delivered by Mr. Chas. N. Evans, of this city, at the opening session of the annual convention of the North Carolina Dental Society at Wrightsville Beach, Wednesday night, July 15th, was ably responded to by Dr. D. L. James, of Greenville, chairman of the executive committee, who took occasion to speak of the danger of defective teeth and infections in the human mouth. The address was so generally commented upon by the dentists in attendance upon the meeting that it is reproduced in full. Dr. James spoke as follows:

Mr. President, Members of the North Carolina Dental Society, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Mr. Evans, truly I am proud to be the spokesman for this vast number of dentists, and upon such an occasion as this, and to be the bearer of loving congratulations to you for this hearty welcome.

The editors, the bankers, the physicians, the lawyers, any many other conventions, have been welcomed this season to your "City by the Sea."

While I cannot accept your welcome as did that brilliant writer and speaker, Major London, for the "Press," nor with such ease and dignity as did the gallant and noble Col. Burgwyn, for the bankers; I cannot accept it as did the diplomat Dr. Way for the "time-honored" medical profession—but would to God I could accept it with the eloquence of the "silver-tongued" Tillett, of the Bar. Yet, sir, I do accept your welcome as heartily, and in behalf of as fine a set of men as has assembled in your midst.

All vocations are entitled to honor, where the work is honest and the ends sought for are commendable, but especial honor has ever been rendered to those vocations which deal with human ailments and sufferings, whether mental or physical, and to such vocations, from antiquity, the honor of the name "profession," formerly more narrowly used than at present, has been given.

The relative rank among professions is not unimportant, but can we not claim with proper modesty and truthfulness that, for the prevention and amelioration of human suffering, and for the peace, health, and prolongation of human existence, dentistry is today without a peer among them all. Only a few months ago, there was unveiled in Paris, a beautiful monument to the memory of the American dentist, Horace Wells, the discoverer of anesthesia, which, in the language of Oliver Wendell Holmes, "permits the knife of the surgeon to cleave the waters of oblivion."

It is to the merit of noble and hospitable France to pay a substantial tribute to the memory of this great benefactor of humanity, and to affirm once more, the immortal truth that science and philanthropy are not the property of any single nation, but are the glory and the sacred interitance of all humanity. And to the dental profession, the world is due its everlasting gratitude for having donated to humanity and to the medical world the rich treasure of anesthesia, the greatest boon of the ages.

So great an authority as Lecky says, in his "History of European Morals"—"It is probable that the American inventor of the first anesthetic has done more for the real happiness of mankind, than all the philosophers from Socrates to Mill."

Modern dentistry has shown that the dangerous micro-organisms which cause such disastrous diseases at tuberculosis, typhoid, scarlet fever, diptheria, influenza, pneumonia, etc., find their most favorable breeding place in the mouth, lurking in the cavities of dental decay, lodging between uncleanly teeth, flourishing beneath the free margins of inflamed gums, permeating calcarious deposits, causing the fermentation of particles of food wherever lodged, covering the tongue with a lace-work made by yeast-forming bacteria in which more formidable organisms find domicile, and quickly changing the pure flow from the salivary ducts into a stream of defilement. The greatest sanitary reform of the world lies in the Herculean task of revolutionizing the unsanitary and infectious condition of the human mouth. Contagion and disease are subtle and dangerous, for infection in the human mouth is found in all places where humanity dwells.

Col. Roosevelt, (the greatest living man), says "that the prosperity of a nation depends upon the health of its people." The alimentary canal is thirty-two feet long; you control only the first three inches of it. In view of this, no one, I think, will question, the statement that maintenance of health in the human mouth is not only important, but that it is very important, and that nation, that family, or that individual that gives the most enlightened attention to conditions of health in the Mouth will surely enjoy the better state of general health.

Dr. Osler, of Oxford, says, in "The London Lancet":

"If I were asked to say whether more physical deterioration was produced by alcohol or by defective teeth, I would unhesitatingly say defective teeth."

"Defective," or more properly, diseased teeth, has a meaning for deepes and antiseptic solutions, the death of the teeth.

Dr. G. V. I. Brown says, "If the mouths of the children in our public schools could be systematically examined by competent persons, and instructions given and enforced with regard to the intelligent use of brushes ad antiseptic solutions, the death rate of this country would be materially lessened, the percentage of illness much reduced, and a stronger and more vigorous race result in consequence on these prophylactic measures."

Believing that the wealth and general prosperity of a nation of people depend upon a condition of healthfulness in both body and mind; that there is not a disease to which the human body is not liable that is not aggravated by an unhealthy condition of the mouth; that many diseases are, in fact, originally caused by neglected teeth and malnutriment; that health is impaired, beauty marred, happiness destroyed, and life shortened by the deplorable ignorance of the hygienic laws governing the preservation of these important organs, the dentists of this country and other educators have inaugurated what promises to be the greatest, or one of the greatest, campaigns ever organized for the abolition of disease. This work was started in Cleveland, Ohio, last March, and will be carried on under the auspices of the National Dental Association. A work of instruction of the children of our public schools in the care and importance of their teeth. With this thought, I close. Keep the mouth clean, for out of it are the issues of life.

Before taking my seat, as chairman of the executive committee, I want to thank you, ladies and gentlemen, for your presence here this evening. And for the benefit of my handsome associates of the committee, Drs. Regan, Smithson and Fleming, I extend a special invitation to the ladies.

There is not a place in Earth or Heaven,
There is not a task to minkind given,
There is not a blessing or a woe,
There is not a whispered yes, or no,
There's not a life, nor death, nor birth,
That has a feather's weight of worth,
Without a woman in it.

"OUR GREAT LOSS."

Weekly Article by North Carolina Board of Health.

In the United States, during the time required for you to read this article—three or four minutes—ten or twelve people will die; the next sixty minutes will be the hour of death for 175 others, and today's sun will set on 4,000 new made graves, while as many undertakers will make preparation for tomorrow's repetition of today's tragedy.

This means, according to the United States Census Reports, 1,500,000 deaths in the United States every year. It means, in addition, an amount of sickness productive of a loss of labor equivalent to the total incapacitation for the entire year of 3,000,000 people. Forty-two per cent of the 1,500,000 deaths, or 600,000 deaths, are preventable. The testimony of expert opinion, of scientific facts, of actual results to the truth of this statement will be forthcoming in subsequent press contributions from this office.

Political economist estimate that the productive energy wasted through preventable disease amounts to a financial loss to the United States of over $1,000,000,000 annually. This is more than enough to pay the entire annual expenses of our National Government; enough in one year to both dig and fortify the Panama Canal. Preventable disease is, therefore, a grave public concern.

But, is it not a problem of tremendous importance to the individual—to you, my reader? Let's see. Divide the total loss to the United States from this cause by the total population ($1,000,000,000 divided by 85,000,000), and we find that preventable disease taxes the individual $11.75 per annum. Satisfy yourself on this point. Take ten neighboring families; estimate their expenses from sickness from tuberculosis, malaria, typhoid, and hookworm; add to this 80 per cent. of the expenses from summer diarrheas, and 50 per cent. of the expenses from contagious diseases of children; add losses from death, estimate as follows: Child under 1 year of age, $90; child 5 years old, $950; child 10 years old, $2,000; person 20 years old, $4,000; 30 years old, $4,100; 50 years old, $2,000. Then remember there are many losses from physically defective eyes, ears, throats, and other organs which should have been recognized before their damage was done. All these expenses compounded will make a per capita tax from ten to twenty times larger than the government per capita tax of a citizen of this State.

But, it is the part of human nature to think of self as the exception to the rule. I have in mind, as I write, a family living on a farm where no case of typhoid has occurred in the fifty years in which this place has been used as a home. The head of this family has frequently boasted of the freedom of the place and family from the disease. The country isolation of this home, the surface contour of the yard and surroundings, the depth of the well and the unknown occurrence of the disease on that hill might persuade one to regard this family as an exception to the rule of one case of typhoid to six of a family; might persuade the head of such a family to feel a bit indifferent to the typhoid problem. The children are growing up, like all other children; one by one they are leaving the place of safety and coming under the general rules which govern their kind. The two oldest, the two that have been away from home the longest, have both had typhoid, giving, even in that apparently typhoid-free family, the rule more than its dues, 1 out of 5, instead of 1 out of 6.

The wise man governs his life by rules—by probabilities, not by exceptions. If you are wise, so live that preventable disease will long delay taking toll of you and yours; this means, join the campaign for better public-health provisions.

DIFFICULTY OF WITHDRAWING.

One of the Objections to the Postal Savings Banks.

New York, July 23.—Now that Postal Savings Banks are assured, general interest prevails regarding their advantages and disadvantages in relation to banks already established and conducted under local management.

In the light of dispassionate analysis, the benefits claimed for the people at large are not so much in evidence. Indeed, it seems as though the drawbacks to Postal Savings outnumbered the advantages.

Of all the bad points of the Postal Savings bill there is none quite so bad—and none that effects the interest of the people so closely—as the difficulty that will be experienced in withdrawing funds from Postal Savings Banks.

The entire matter of withdrawal is left in the discretion of the Board of Trustees who are to have general charge of Postal Savings Banks, which board is composed of the Postmaster General, the Attorney General and the Secretary of the Treasury.

How easy it is to deposit money is evidenced by the provision in the bill stipulating that any persons in the United States above ten years of age can open an account in the Postal Savings Bank with the sum of $1.00 or multiples thereof.

Now, in all foreign countries having Postal Savings Banks there is always a tremendous volume of withdrawals. Indeed, in one country—Canada—during the past three years, the withdrawals have exceeded the deposits by $5,000,000. In France, where we are told that the establishment of Postal Savings Banks have been of particular value to the people of rural district, in the year of 1906, the amount of deposits was $98,872,927, and the withdrawals amount to $93,349,610. In 1908, in the United Kingdom, the total deposits amounted to $223,853,910, while the withdrawals totaled $226,977,000, or an excess of withdrawals over deposits of $3,123,090. Thus it will be seen that the deposits in the Postal Savings Banks are anything but stable.

And further, a commentator upon the efficiency of the Postal Savings Banks in France, said that the great difficulty of the system, and one against which complaint is most constant, is, that in order to withdraw money at sight, the depositor is obliged to go to the central office. Using his own words, he continues: "This is often a great inconvenience to working people who form a large percentage of the depositors. The fault is to be remedied in some measure by installing two more central offices, where funds may be withdrawn at once."

Now, the all-important subject of withdrawal of funds, in this country, is placed entirely in the hands of the Board of Trustees, who can make such rules and regulations as they see fit. In this connection it is interesting to know that in a public interview the other day one of the trustees said that it was their intention to model the system, insofar as possible, upon that in vogue in the United Kingdom. It is an actual fact that in Great Britain, in order to withdraw even $5, the period of about ten days is required. In the first place, the depositor desiring to withdraw any funds must present his pass book at the nearest post-office, together with an intention of withdrawing whatever amount is desired. The pass book and the request for the withdrawal are then forwarded to the main office in London, where they are passed from one clerk to another until they reach some official who has it in his power to say whether or not the depositor shall be allowed to withdraw the amount requested. This permission once being given, the pass book, together with the permission, return through the hands of more clerks and eventually reach the postmaster who, in turn, notifies the depositor that he may have the $5 or whatever the amount was.

Imagine the inconvenience imposed upon the citizens of the United States by such a round-about way of withdrawing money. As poor people are supposed to be the beneficiaries, under the postal Savings System, it is easy to see that unless they keep a certain amount of ready money at home, in the event of any emergency arising, they will be practically helpless or forced to borrow.

Thus it will be seen that Postal Savings Banks, while they afford safety for deposits, are inconvenient depositories for the persons who may wish to withdraw the money for immediate or urgent needs.

'Foley's Kidney Pills Have Cured Me.'

The above is a quotation from a letter written by H. M. Winkler, Evansville, Ind. "I contracted a severe case of kidney trouble. My back gave out and pained me. I seemed to have lost all strength and ambition; was bothered with dizzy spells, my head would swim and specks float before my eyes. I took Foley Kidney Pills regularly and am now perfectly well and feel like a new man. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me." Robt. R. Bellamy.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

HOT-WEATHER LIVER TROUBLE

Many people who generally enjoy good health suffer from biliousness in the summer time. Rich foods served ice-cold are difficult to digest by the majority, and often produce a chilling of the entire digestive tract. The liver thus becomes sluggish, when the condition known as biliousness results. This is often accompanied by constipation or indigestion. Serious as it may seem, however, to the unfortunate person, it is easily curable with a remedy such as the well-known Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a great laxative and tonic, and which contains ingredients that act upon the liver and stimulate it. It will relieve a hot-weather liver complaint over night and cure it lastingly in a very short time. If you have any indisposition of the stomach, liver or bowels, your first concern should be a supply of this grand remedy, which you can obtain of any druggist for 50 cents or $1.00 a bottle. There will be enough and to spare for your complaint and that of your family. A FREE TRIAL BOTTLE will be sent to those who have never used it if they send their name and address to
